Re: MM Docket No. 00-168, Standardized and Enhanced Disclosure Requirements for Television Broadcast Licensee Public Interest Obligations

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Attached please find the signatures of nearly 14,000 people urging the Federal Communications Commission to require that broadcasters document their public service programming, including election coverage, in a searchable online database.

Election coverage is one of the most important ways for broadcasters to serve the public in exchange for their free use of the airwaves. The public has a right to know what broadcasters are doing to cover local elections.

Respectfully submitted,

_____/s/_____

this must be changed ASAP
—Elizabeth Zimatore, Island Park, NY

—Irene T Mungen, Fulton, IL

The people deserve better than this. Please see to this immediately!
—Fran Parker, Dendron, VA

Do your job--inform, don't misinform, the electorate.
—Carol Mccune, Herndon, VA

"Alternative" news is quickly becoming mainstream due to the connection of big business and government. We recognize the agenda and do follow the money. Trust is hard to regain once lost.
—Ramona Wesling, Charles Town, WV

it is a shame that so much money is spent putting lies on the tv... it gets sickening, especially when they don't even say who is telling the lies (though usually it's easy to see) money shouldn't be used to buy elections and politicians...it's almost like laundering money for bribes. Also, remember what countries are called which are ruled by companies !!!!! Well, thanks to the right-wing supreme court justices and their crazy decision in the Citizens United case 2 years ago, our country is fast becoming ruled by companies and by the very rich. In fact I read that at least one state and others are trying too has pass a bill that will allow companies to give unlimited amounts of money directly to a candidate....so a wealthy company like Citi credit card could donate $300,000,000 to the Republican nominee. (they wouldn't donate to a democrat becuse democrats are going against all the lobbying money and trying to do away with some of the loopholes...like democrats were almost successful in doing away with the loopholes for carried interest that allow Romney to pay a fraction of the interest rate that a secretary pays.....and how republicans can say with a straight fact that this kind of investment helps the economy...esplecially since much of Romneys millions are sitting pretty in off shore bank accounts in the Cayman Islands and other pplaces....oh, that's right he did give $100,000,000 to his sons and didn't even have to pay a gift tax.....nice deals are there for the 1%.....no wonder people are getting fed up with the rich people and companies not paying their fair share !!!!! adrienne Ochis Kure Beach,NC
—Adrienne Ochis, kure beach, NC

if your bosses where not so greedy this would not be an issue but because they are it is.
—Frederick Bays, Troupsburg, NY

Follow the money.
—Kenneth Christopher, Plymouth, MI

It is imperative for EVERYONE - all parties - that there be drastic reform to Campaign Financing ! Do it now - save our country!
—Linda Martenson, Winchester, VA

It's time to be honest about the biasing of reported information.
—Bryan Miller, charleston, IL

This is so quietly deceptive, please don't let it go unnoticed
—Pat Walsh, Warrington, PA

Please make it transparent!
—Curtis Inderwiesche, Tustin, CA

Thanks for all the good you do!
—Mary Bartholet, Shoreline, WA

We're counting on YOU to do the RIGHT thing!
—Mr. Gregory McCoy, Asheville, NC

A simple question. Do you value our democracy or do you prefer a kleptocracy?
—Fred Krogh, Tujunga, CA

National Media are the brokers for buying and selling our democracy. We're entitled to know who is willing to pay how much to buy our government.
—Judith A. Faulkner, Mahwah, NJ

Will y'all resume your 4th Estate Civic DUTY for US ALL?
—Vic Anderson, Eagle lake, FL

"Have you no sense of Decency, Sir, at long last? Have you left no sense of Decency?!"
—Larry Ellis Reed, Winona, MN

Unless mainstream media outlets reform themselves, your "news" programs will continue their slide into irrelevance. More and more people look to the Internet for news they can trust -- and the barrage of political advertising will drive even more of us away, unless YOU decide to provide something of value.
—Erin Harris, Albuquerque, NM

Make sure your members serve "the public interest", not merely their own profits.
—Michael Lebednik, Lynn, MA

The public deserves to know who is paying to sway our votes!
—Barbara Dorame, Long Beach, CA

I want my country back.
—Robert Wolf, Decorah, IA

Come on, how much dumber can you make the Amerikan electorate?
—Thomas Hodges, Opelika, AL

We The People demand that broadcasters fulfill their responsibilities to serve the Public Good. The future of our democracy is utterly dependent on our access to highest quality news and information.
—Seabury Lyon, Bethel, ME

Your allegiance should be to your viewers not to the almighty dollar. but what would we expect from our broadcasters when they are already paid for by the corporations that run most of the news.
—Cindy Mantel, Hamilton Sq, NJ

3 billion would keep Social Security going for a long time. - Still cheaper than paying taxes.
—Garry Spencer, Tampa, FL

As part of the disclosures, please make sure the public knows how much money gas companies are putting into advertising in New York State. They are trying to buy the right to frack and we don't want it.
—Marguerite King, Earleton, NY

Please do your job.

—Debra Petersen, Clinton, IA

Also I want to see the Candidates on TV talking about themselves, not their opponent in Negative ad campaigns. All I see is Negative ads and NOTHING about themselves and where they stand. In addition I'd like to see they are HELD ACCOUNTABLE for what THEY PROMISE. We never get any good information from TV ads, WHY?

Thank You, C. David Deweese

—C David Deweese, Greer, SC

Without complete disclosure, democracy itself is at stake.

—Vasu Murti, Oakland, CA

Freedom of the press as guaranteed under the first amendment is totally meaningless if broadcasters make the profits reaped from campaign ads more important than giving Americans the information needed to fully participate in the democratic process. Ignore this obligation and the media may find itself without defenders when it will inevitably be called to the bar of justice.

—Sharon Stewart, Phoenix, AZ

The press is mentioned in the Constitution as the 4th estate. the first 3 being the Executive, the legislative and the judicial. The free press was meant by our founders to be the watchdogs of government for the people, and not just the wealthy, corporate advertisers, but all the people.

—Judith K Zitko, Hot Springs Village, AR

I am disgusted at the paid lies and omissions of pertinent information that pervade the media. We need a source of accessible information about who is paying for all this.

—Patricia A Grames, Tucson, AZ

Broadcasters have a duty to the American public, many duties actually. We want to know who is spending this money!

—Susan Morris, Los Angeles, CA

The 99% have their eyes on you, and we notice that all these millions spent are NOT helping the economy.

Straighten up!

—Diana S. Rogers, Stockton, CA

You must step up - we have a much better informed public than during previous campaigns, and, WE WILL ALL BE WATCHING YOU AS WELL AS THE CANDIDATES! No more selling out the public to corporations!

—Maggie Schafer, Boulder, CO

And I approve of this message!

—Joseph Pagano, rochester, NY

After watching this you'll say, "I did not see that coming!" <http://vimeo.com/7761485> Expertly shot & edited. Done with so much insight & attention to detail that most women who see it can't believe it was created by a man.

<http://www.imdb.com/name/nm0033811/> jeff, great job on your short. > very clean. i am impressed > peace

<http://www.imdb.com/name/nm1843310/>

—Jeff Archuleta, Denver, CO

There should be full disclosure of the groups/individuals behind these ads. We'll be loyal to those media outlets who have a conscience about this. We will boycott the outlets and their sponsors who roll over and take the $.

—Gayle V Doherty, Akron, OH

Please help us take back our democracy.
—Linda Roybal, LOS RANCHOS, NM

I apologize for the word 'demand', this is a democratic society, but this supposes that you support the general public's rights...
—Jim Wilson, Fairfield, CA

We have a right to know. You have a duty to inform us.
—Jack Stansfield, Stanwood, WA

Just think what that $3 Billion of ad money could do for the homeless, education, unemployed etc. We need to get the money out of politics.
—John Csaszar, Fleetwood, PA

You are complicit in this devastation of democracy in our elections. Do what you can to weaken this destructive anti-american supreme court ruling please! Sincerely, Wendy bedenbaugh
—Wendy Bedenbaugh, scarsdale, NY

Please act now with no foot dragging!
—Brad Jones, Salt Lake City, UT

Broadcasters must report the truth when it comes to anything that is happening especially when it comes to political ad money what ever the amount. Hitler did every thing to control the media & that seem's to be happening here in the US This Is very Scarry and should be stopped now. Give LP FM stations the rite to compeat with commercial station in stead of putting a 1 ton ball and chain around them to try and keep their stations on the air.
—David Petrik, Sweet Home, OR

What the hell is going on here. America is for sale.
—Karl Paul Vossbrinck, Southbury, CT

Corporations can go to jail like citizens? No? then they are not people and should not have those rights.
—David Longsmith, Brattleboro, VT

There was once a requirement that TV stations do public service in order to keep their license. the way things are now, TV stations keep their license and do nothing more than rake in obscene profits and contributing as little as possible to public service. it is wrong. they should change or lose their license.
—Jamil Simon, Somerville, MA

I have worked as a senior electronics maintenance engineer in Broadcasting for nearly 35 years. I worked six years for Ampex - as a factory technician, and a Field Service Engineer. (Ampex invented the video tape recorder in 1955.) I've worked in numerous TV stations, Cable TV networks, production houses, network operations centers, News Channels, and New Departments as a technical maintenance engineer. Broadcasters are Despicable these days! It's a Shame! Five years ago, I walked away from my Broadcasting career in Disgust! It was the Right Thing for me to do! Here's my FCC Radiotelephone Operator's License (w/ Ship's Radar Endorsement) (issued in Denver, CO on Sept 25, 1985) # PG-15-14230 • http://www.archive.org/download/TroopWithdrawalResolutionFaiIsInFortCollinsColorado/fcc_license_new.jpg
—Monte Barry, Fort Collins, CO

You are supposed to be all about truth...now is the time to tell it!
—Kathleen Johnson, Reno, NV

Free speech isn't free and "paid for" speech of times isn't true. As broadcasters you have a duty to the American people to report what is really going on instead of lining your pockets. If you can't do this, I WILL NOT be listening to the news.

—Penelope Sallberg, Pasadena, CA

Join the masses otherwise your next....

—Naomi Simmons, North Providence, RI and, in the process disclose who owns each network, the deep pockets which shovel it in, do so in order to funnel it back to their own savings accounts.

—Brad Whipple, Sugar Hill, NH

Unless you are doing an editorial--you should be neutral! YOU NEED to let the public know who is paying and how much has been donated to each candidate!

—Martha Andrews, Germansville, PA

The electorate should at least know who is contributing to what campaigns and the total amounts contributed.

—William P. White, Bryn Mawr, PA

We need to have real election reform!

—Marge Francois, Waterloo, IL

PLEASE! Come to your senses. Help our society, use $ for good, not evil...

—Allen Huxley, Seattle, WA

Follow the money!

—Judith Shipsky, Albuquerque, NM

We need to get the money out of politics.

—Jeff McCleave, Olney, IL

for the people, by the people... corporations and PACs are NOT people

—Susan Stutz, Cherry Valley, MA

It won't be easy for broadcasters to expose the scandal that's enriching their owners. But it is legitimate news and even the flimsiest set of journalistic ethics demands that it be made public.

—Robert Simmons, Bellingham, WA

Dooooo it

—Sean-Erik O'Donnell, Philadelphia, PA

If any of you had been doing your JOBS, the bush regime wouldn't have been able to get away with the atrocities against The People that he did. You're all no more than propaganda machines for the right.

—L Osborn, w. linn, OR

If the General Election starts out the way the Republican Primary, especially where I live in Florida, I can promise you right now I will turn off the T.V. and may never go back to it.

—Jean Louise Corcoran, Tarpon Springs, FL

We need to know who's paying for what.

—Sheila Kwartler, Worcester, MA

I will not be contributing to either party to spend more billions on these absurd and disgusting ads. They are insulting to the intelligence as well as being an incredible waste of money. And I will turn off TV shows that air them!

—Trudie Barreras, Atlanta, GA

Also, how do these ads get away with telling blatant lies. Aren't there any standards for what is broadcast? If the ads can't be truthful, they shouldn't be allowed.

—Nancy Thornburn, Fort Bragg, CA

step up and do the kind of journalism you dreamed you'd be doing!

—Mark Mandelbaum, Jackson Heights, NY

Only citizens should be able to pay for politics, corporate deep pockets got no heart!

—Hall Hodgson, San Diego, CA

Why should companies with evident special interest in the outcome of our elections not have to disclose that they are financing advertising clearly aimed at influencing voters? Both sides should disclose where the money is coming from. The current situation is just the first step, along with voter suppression, in making our elections less free and giving special corporate interests the final say in who is elected. It's time to put a stop to secret finance contributions.

—Leslie Johnson, Los Angeles, CA

WHERE DOES THE MONEY COME FROM?

—Hunter Wallof, POINT REYES STATION, CA

The Broadcast Industry has a duty to provide this public service. If they continue to fail to do so, then the alternative is pursue administrative action at the FCC to revoke their licenses.

—PF Almeida, Tampa, FL

As a real print journalist and Vietnam War veteran I want to know why you can't broadcast no movin pictures of no daid sandy negroes with oil spewing from deir orifices for Jesus and the American Way? Where oh where whitey art thou movin pictures of yo daid sandy negroes for Jesus and the American Way? Sincerely, Robert A. Hyer II, aka biped

—Robert Hyer II, Lillian, AL

Please proactively meet your responsibility to operate in the public interest.

—Joseph Dray, Edmonds, WA

without transparency you are as culpable as these (legal but not for long I hope) pirates are. They are stealing our democracydemocracy

—Susan Speed, Louisville, KY

Don't let the truth be purchased. Give your audiences the information that they deserve.

—Linda Abbott, Somers, CT

Please step up and tell the whole truth. We are very tired of the spin you put on things.

—Robert Parsons, Wenatchee, WA

Santa will be here sooner than the corporate media cleans its act.

—Emilio Ghergo, Cambria, CA

"The media" in general often cite Freedom of Information... We deserve a bit of that free information!

—Carl Carter, Hillsboro, OR

If we can't restrict the amount of money we should still be able to determine who is contributing the money.

—Kent Gravelle, Edina, MN

If we don't exercise our free speech we will slowly lose it. Broadcasters and others in the news industry should be leading the way and keep the road open. As they cave in to pressures from advertisers and publishing owners, we all lose out.

—Patricia Jerrells, Shelton, WA

If Michigan, California, and Florida each received a third of those 3 billion, these states would not be sending children to crowded schools, low-income sick people into their avoidable death or pain, and college students into unaffordable debt. As a nation, most Republican leaders and some Democrats have opted to give more value to the luxury of the 5% and less significance to the human dignity of the other 95%. Shame on such choices!

—Sarah Hernandez, Sarasota, FL

It is about time that all media, including the large for-profit media conglomerates take their fourth estate mandate seriously. Without a well-informed public there can be no real democracy. And, without a well-informed voting public there is no way that ordinary people can make constructive decisions or vote for candidates that truly represent their and the country's best interests. Lies, gossip, and misinformation cannot possibly help solve the deep problems that we are confronting in the U.S. Start doing your job, responsibly!!!

—Monica Frolander-Ulf, Pittsburgh, PA

Let truth and transparency be your watchwords throughout 2012.

—Ann Carranza, Healdsburg, CA

I would like to see all political ad's have who bought it, major contributors listed and the total cost listed on the ad...provided by the airing network with research into who really provided the money

—Anthony markesino, Stafford, TX

it is the duty of broadcast news to be sure that listeners . know who is behind those ads and to fact check and dispute those claims by partisan pacs. you receive a license from the people to use those air waves for community benefit ! you must repay the people by telling the truth, and not your own biased viewpoint. lying by omission or commission should be grounds for loss of license.

—Peter Rosenbluth, North Conway, NH

Voters have the right to accurate information. Ads that twist the truth is not in the best interest of our country. While these ad are not illegal, it would help if we knew their sponsors. Please tell us!!!!

—Cynthia Lemelle, Lake Charles, LA

Broadcasters rake in massive profits from political ads without fully disclosing the moneyed interests funding misleading television spots. The FCC must mandate that broadcasters disclose the deep-pocketed funders behind this torrent of misinformation. They can do this by placing records of all political-ad spending online and requiring fuller disclosure in the body of the ads themselves. This is just the first step in a larger election-year initiative. In 2012 Free Press will reveal how the media's role in big-money politics has pulled our elections into a downward spiral ... Work with us to get our democracy back on course!!!

—Lynn Manzione, athens, GA

During non-election season, I can barely stand to watch or listen to the news because you do it so poorly. Now that election is here, I record programs so that I can fast-forward through the ads, and I generally read much more. I cannot stand how you release negative information on candidates just as they achieve some sort of success or momentum. It's so manipulative. Your broadcast licenses are just a big toy that prints money.

—Benita Campbell, Burgettstown, PA

PLEASE!!!!!!

—Sheila Mary Low-Beer, Charleston, SC

Tell us the truth about who's financing election coverage on your stations! (Frankly, if you don't, you merely leave us completely suspicious of you, as well as those advertisers. Do you really want that loss of public confidence?)

—Lee Jolliffe, Des Moines, IA

Politics in this country has become a clown show. Don't be a part of the circus.

—Marcy Donaldson, Denver, CO

This is NOT helping our Country get better !

—Arthur R. Di Blassio, Ann Arbor, MI

Broadcasters should be obligated to supply info to the public, they are using public airwaves

—Eileen Kapetsky, Lelend, NC

It is intelligent to name the source of all material broadcast by groups not connected to the station ownership or management. Many messages presented are not truthful, popular, or free of other bad associations. Your management should be intelligent enough to distance themselves from fraud, racism, sexism, and other disgusting associations that may later surface.

—Greg Koshak, city, WI

Your most sacred role is to be the voice of and for the voiceless. You remind politicians that it is about the people--not the power. You expose corporations that place profits over people. You are the guardian of our laws--keeping alive their spirit [protection of the powerless, the poor, the voiceless and the disenfranchised]. Do not forget your very reason for being.

—Dave Rink, Sault Sainte Marie, MI

Do not be Sheep and let the PACs control the message. It's a dangerous move in American politics and does not serve our democracy well. Sincerely, Sandra Sarradet

—Sandra Sarradet, Charlottesville, VA

If we are to make intelligent election decisions, we require this information.

—Leonard Kamman, Austin, TX

This SuperPAC business is appalling. Primarily in the sheer amount of cash they spend on their candidates as well as how our country has yet another means to be controlled by special interest lobbyists

—Ali Shah, Burlington, MA

Some of the "news" and pundits broadcasted in the US cannot be aired in Canada because Canada doesn't allow people who are broadcasted on public airways to lie to the public. Join in a campaign that is oriented in telling the truth - including the full story!!! how ads are funded, filter out our ads that lie would be a great second step..... i am sickened by the political media machine myself.

—Sally Moore, Bernalillo, NM

It's obvious who the Supreme Courts work for. REPUBLICANS and BIG MONEY. So much for true justice and the America we are suppose to be. Money needs to be taken completely out of politics, and until it is nothing will be honest or on the up and up in America again. It is amazing to me how much our leaders are willing to sell their SOULS for.

—Marguerite Longsine, Lincoln, NE

There's no curtailment of ridiculous Republican/rightist ads of LIES, so getting truthful 4-1-1 out is the diametric culmination.

—Ramsay Macinnes, Cherry Valley, MA

Citizens United is a travesty and needs to be changed. We don't want this kind of money in politics and the media needs to disclose these contributors. We no longer even have news stations. Cable News is on 24/7 but only covers the Republican Primary. There must be some other news in the world beside that. This is ridiculous.

—Laurie L. Bickett, North Mankato, MN

On one local tv news broadcast, the "news" anchor became part of a candidate's campaign as he purportedly "interviewed" said candidate--at least to this viewer, maybe many more thought the same thing. I changed the channel as I could not watch such bias on an evening "news" program.

—Linda Burke, Clearwater, FL

I can only hope there is a God, so that you will be punished--and severely--for allowing the corrupt and the selfish to take over our once-great nation. SHAME ON YOU!

—Karen Bauer, New York, NY

It's bad enough we're bombarded with commercials across the spectrum of TV programs, not we are being told who to vote for simply because the Supreme Court has allowed our elections to be bought. Why aren't you telling the people these things?

—Terry Greene Harvey, Herefords, AZ

I have decided to take a break from all broadcast television and any cable channels that run political ads. That leaves PBS, the Science Channel, HBO. Considering the quality of the above mentioned channels, I won't be facing a hardship. In fact, I might never go to broadcast TV.

—Robert Mulkins, North Ridgeville, OH

It was a travesty Citizens United was ever allowed for corporations to now get involved. All funding should be disclosed!

—Sharon A Warren, Chandler, AZ

The 'free' press these days means free to make lots of money. The free and unbiased news is a thing of the past.

A clear paper trail is needed. If broadcasters are getting billions of dollars from elections, how are they benefiting the public that allows them to use the airwaves with it.

—Anthony Ricci, Golden Valley, MN

The practice of money in the election of our candidates is fraud and something I find extremely wrong with the system we have in place today!!! I hope this petition makes all aware who they work for-the citizens!!!

—Austin Randolph, Costa Mesa, CA

Corporations are not people!

—Bertram Levinstone, Basking Ridge, NJ

hi

—Molly Brewer, milwaukee, WI

Candidates for office that do not have big money behind them deserve to be heard as well. It is your responsibility to see that all sides are heard, regardless of money spent on ads.

—Robert Park, Madison, WI

—Raymond Firmani, Wilmington, DE

Sleazy political advertising is RUINING democracy. Invest more money in actual reporting. News media should REPORT ON THE ISSUES. Stop treating elections like a horse race.

—Glen Anderson, Lacey, WA

As this nation crumbles, it is your job to disclose the unbiased truth. You don't now. You favor who ever pays you the most, and say what ever they tell you to say...it must stop. Tell us the Unbiased Truth about who is paying you and what they want you to say so we can make informed choices as we go to the polls.

—Dan Joiner, New York, NY

As long as we allow the special interests to dominate our political process, whether it be in lobbying or in campaign spending, we have no right to call our country free, let alone democratic.

—Rex Hamann, Andover, MN

As a broadcaster myself I know what goes on. You need to inform your viewers. Spend some of that massive amount of money on news and information about the issues being pushed by the richest 1% of our country.

—David Brewer, Wichita, KS

Please help stop the disgusting corporate takeover of America, there must be better transparency! Do the right thing, please. Thank you.

Corporations are not people, our government should serve people.

—Ronald Sohn, Saginaw, MI

As corporate media (rich men) I know it is hard for you to do the right thing and report the facts about campaign spending (pass through the eye of the needle), but if you really try you can be a productive member of civic society (enter the Kingdom of Heaven).

—Robin M. Donald, Fortuna, CA

Our democracy and our election by officials should stay, of the people, by the people and for the people - NOT corporations! Stand with the American people and make it clear who is posting the political ads.

—Nora Gyetko, White Plains, NY

In the Citizens United decision, "disclosure" was posited as necessary for the proper functioning of the law.

—Jeffrey Panciera, Seattle, WA

In my opinion, broadcasters which do not report this type of public interest information should be at risk of losing their broadcast license or be heavily fined for collusion.

—Pamela de Liz, Santa Monica, CA

Please take corporate money out of politics. Allow the American people to control their OWN destiny. Give America back to "We The People.

—Norm Burke, Blandon, PA

I will choose to watch the networks and programs that offer the most transparent and accurate reporting and will switch off those that run smear campaigns.

—Mo Kafka, New Brunswick, NJ

I want my Democracy back.

—Randy Schwartz, Fair Lawn, NJ

Here's an idea--why not limit the politicians to one hour's worth of ads in a week and give them a discount? That way they wouldn't have to waste so much money from special interests and we could get bombarded with more car/toothpaste/beer/etc. commercials.

—Diana Crowson, Los Lunas, NM

How many starving children would that amount of money feed???????

—Clarice J. Alexander, Madison, OH

Please be fair and honest. The American people rely on you!!!

—Jean Stephenson, Fridley, MN

If we are to maintain a free country, then the news media must step up to the plate and tell the whole story, not just opinions and foolishness.

The CITIZENS UNITED decision is the greatest threat to democracy I've seen in my lifetime (over 50 years).

—Allen Hibbard, Murfreesboro, TN

This is a crucial story for American democracy. Please report it.

—Alex Brown, East Montpelier, VT

My family gets most of our news from PBS and CBS Evening News since our local news and other news programs have such little in-depth coverage and/or very biased coverage. We really want to know what's going on in the larger world, and are not so interested that a local cat was found, etc.

—Sally Small, Delaware, OH

Stations and networks accepting money for political ads must disclose this information at the start of any and all news programs they offer. My trust in an unbiased news agency is eroded when the the company is taking in millions of dollars in political ads.

—James Hardison, Rockville, MD

it is outrageous that billions are spend on elections while the American middle class is sinking into poverty with no job, no house, often even no food - this political system breeds corruption and inequality.

Our democracy is being killed by all the special interest money flooding into our electoral system. The least broadcasters could do is provide some transparency!

—Alan Wojtalik, Baltimore, MD

Media has become a major part of the disease infecting this country. Rather than informing, they are prostitutes for those destroying what's left of our democracy.

—Richard Cassar, New Milford, CT

Please, don't abandon your role as a protector of our democracy. Stop the corporate oligarchy.

—Katherine Randolph, Mill Valley, CA

What passes for "news" these days in the MSM is absolutely pathetic--feel-good pap, fluff, and blather. Surely you can do better. If not, move aside and let someone take over who is SERIOUS about the job!

—Carol Dodson, Columbia, SC

Let's return election power back to the people.

—Wendy Lockwood, Glendale, CA

The Supreme Court's Citizens United decision has already picked a winner in the 2012 elections: broadcast media. With a projected $3 billion in political-ad money flooding into local television stations this election season, broadcasters must do right by the viewing and voting public. That means providing real information on the deep-pocketed interests behind this money, and investing profits into comprehensive election coverage. Broadcasters shouldn't get a free pass in 2012.

—Dr. K J. Kaye, Santa Fe, NM

Quit hiding behind Citizens United!
—Dean Barto, Phoenix, AZ

The same mentality as: "corporations are people too" and "I was a consultant for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac." The Supreme Court made a huge error in judgement (intentional) when they changed the law. I saw this coming. The rich get to decide who's in power while everyone has to just watch it happen. It is not justice. Almost dictatorship! Look at 3rd world countries. There is a small percentage of people who are rich and then there is everyone else. Those rich people have power and decide who runs the country. This is wrong and very selfish. This will end the US as the most powerful country. Greed never works. Remember, Rome fell too. Don't people ever learn from history? History does repeat its self. Smart people learn their own mistakes AND others mistakes. I guess those who decided to give corporations this kind of power are stupid. HA!

—Mr. Shelley D. Dahlgren PhD, Issaquah, WA

the mainstream media are in my opinion responsible for the climate of fear abuse of privilege in corporate deals and the high level of intolerance and bigotry in the U.S. They should ALL be ashamed of themselves. It's high time t.v and print media consider their powerful impact on the psychology of youth and take their authority more seriously. There iz no use in money when the world iz being bombed poisoned and chipped away...

You have access to the public airwaves by our fiat. Public service is the price we demand in return.

—Catherine Curtis, Santa Monica, CA

LET PEOPLE WITH NO MONEY BROADCAST, FOR THE SAKE OF A BETTER NATION, VIA A BETTER QUALITY CANDIDATE. BECAUSE BROADCASTERS HAVE SUCH A DEATH GRIP ON PUBLICITY, WE HAVE THIS RIDICULOUS LESSER OF TWO EVILS, BIPARTISAN SYSTEM. WE NEED MORE CANDIDATES. WE NEED MORE TV STATIONS AND RADIO STATIONS THAT BROADCAST DIFFERENT MATERIAL. YOU ARE A MONOPOLY AND SHOULD FEEL GUILTY THAT YOU ARE ALL OWNED BY ONE PERSON.

THE PUBLIC NEEDS ALL THE CORECT INFORMATION IT CAN POSSIBLY RECEIVE!!!!!!

—Jane Larsen, ENCINITAS, CA

I'm tired of turning to different stations and finding the same stories told the same way. I'm tired of reading different newspapers and reading the same stories. Give me a little controversy with some good old fashion investigative reporting. I can investigate better then most of these so called reporters. Its all fluff and no meat.

—Benita Phillips, Palisade, CO

Because of biased and limited coverage on important issues that matter, we can no longer rely on the mainstream media information to make educated decisions about voting or about issues that impact our daily lives and future. This lack of media balance has brought our country to its knees and divided Americans. You have allowed the likes of Fox news to spew horrible divisive outright lies to the point of inciting violence, including calls to assassinate the president and anyone who does not believe in the hateful, false rhetoric by people like Glen Beck . This cannot go on any longer . We need to have the truth and balance restored to what used to be a great source of information. Currently at a minimum we need to know who is sponsoring the huge funding of ads and information for elections and it needs to be clearly shown on the ad. We need to have the fairness doctrine returned , and make lying illegal for the media.

—Erika Heins, Toledo, OR

We shouldn't just hear "paid for by the commission to elect..." we should hear the names of contributors as well. Broadcasters are unlikely to bite the hand that feeds them, Requirements on disclosure will help ensure voters are truly informed without forcing media players to "play ball or go home".

—Frank Colletto, Simi valley, CA

I was concerned about the money in our elections before Citizens United. We have to know who is putting all this money in to buy elections. When they are allowed to put lies in their commercials and repeat them over and over, people will think it is true. This leads to unfair elections, and a buying of our lawmakers.

—Sherrie Munday, Boulder, CO

It needs to be absolutely clear from each broadcaster, what is opinion and what has been fact checked. Too many private citizen's get their information from radio and television and don't know what is made up and what is real. This is a responsibility of every broadcaster in the US.

—Deana Bowlds-Williams, Indianapolis, IN

The media is as corrupt as Washington

—Brett Irving, Las Vegas, NV

HONEST REPORTING ONLY. STOP lying to the American public. Truth or nothing. PERIOD.

—Jacqueline Darnell, Bardstown, KY

Democracy is nearly dead, Citizens United is the deadly injection.

—Benjamin Osborne, Silver Spring, MD

you are our moral and ethical mouthpiece we depend on for honest and clear information.

—Mrs. Susanne Ellis, San Francisco, CA

Disgusting. You need to ensure you let the people know.

—Christian Mack, San Francisco, CA

Be responsible citizens and give the public full disclosure of political ads. Plus how about some free time for meaningful discussions.

—Richard L. Klinkner, Gaithersburg, MD

let's make government totally transparent he who has nothing to hide, hides nothing

—BB Nibbom, Del Mar, CA

What a shame. What a lose for America. Your job is to discover and broadcast the truth. But you've been 'gotten to'. You're on the payroll. What a shame.

—Kim McCormick, Rancho Cucamonga, CA

Our political process has been subverted by monied interests. You use the PUBLIC airways to make massive profits and the public has a right to know who is involved in this subversion.

—Robert Kraft, Orrtanna, PA

As you may be aware, the general public is not pleased with either campaigning or the weak investigations into it by local media. You have a responsibility as journalists to obtain and relay your findings to the public. Media is the only buffer between the contrived messages of the political world and the citizens. Without media taking its' role seriously, the US is being driven further and further from the democracy it was intended to be. Be the clarion and tell us all you know.

—Keith Johnson, West Sacramento, CA

I'll start using the internet instead of watching Broadcast TV - I'll get rid of Cox Cable as well

—H Miller, Santa Barbara, CA

Your job as journalists is to keep us informed. Do your job!!!

—Philip De Barros, San Diego, CA

Stop "tip-toing" around the real issues, favoring the current "snake oil" Republican candidates, and counterbalance their on-air lies with truthful reporting!

—Virginia Bennett, Honolulu, HI

If broadcasters won't cooperate and the FCC won't do anything, a boycott will be necessary. Do the right thing now!

—Malika Dickerson, San Diego, CA

Remember, please, that your license is dependent of responsibility to the community. Your profits are not part of the original agreement regarding your bandwidth.

—Peter Casanave, Brooklyn, NY

An accurately informed electorate is a basis of our democracy, information on the candidates and their views should be provided pro bono. Broadcasters, SHAME ON YOU FOR MAKING PROFIT ON THIS VITAL INFORMATION.

—Alan Brown, Canon City, CO

I also want more "News" in my news cast. More than half is promos and commercials!

—C Dan Englund, Harris, MN

The entire system is broke; this is a great place to start. When the "press" is in the pockets of these Super PACs, it is no longer free! Shame on you if you do not tell truth. It is unamerican!

—Jeff Kisner, Waynesburg, PA

—J Eggers, Addy, WA

Unless this stops, we no longer have a democracy.

—Susan Anderson, Boston, MA

And kindly confirm the percentage of every campaign contribution dollar that subsidizes the transnational media cartel.

—Scott Ellington, Foster City, CA

When I see these ads I turn the program off. I won't watch it anymore.

—Elizabeth McElmurray, Nisswa, MN

Dear NAB, If you really care about quality programming, please commit to investing some of the ad revenues in better political coverage and other programming that really serves people.

—Sara Longsmith, Brattleboro, VT

Voters must know the truth about the candidates it is up to the local and national media to let the truth be known. Without comments from the news readers. It is also the job of news media to call out the untruths or opinions of candidates from the actual facts. That is what journalists are supposed to do.

—Dave Robinson, Curlew, WA

Please bring the sunshine in and keep us informed on where the money comes from.

—Douglas Gruenau, Santa Fe, NM

Broadcasters should not be profiting from elections and then not disclosing where the money is coming from. The airwaves are free. Why do cable broadcasters get free airwaves and then charge us for the use of the stations and then charge for commercials?

—Lynne Strieb, Philadelphia, PA

The hypocrisy of the corporate media is astonishing. The corporate media will not listen to anyone unless they have zillions of dollars but then they won't tell you just how much these rich people have.

—William Davis, Bearsville, NY

Fact check the lies and disclose who's funding these ads.

—Marty Torok, Apple Valley, CA

I will never give citizens united support of any kind there out to help the super rich and forget the middle class and lower income your a bad influence and send a bad message to those of us trying to make it and struggling while the rich even get out of paying there fair share in taxes 30% it should be 50% and higher after all the rich can pay there way some never have worked a day and had money handed to them This an outrage and unexceptable where I come from people are held accountable I hold the wealthy accountable for this economic crises were in take responsibility and quit laying blame when asked to pay more than your fair share

Is this of the People, by the People and for the People, or a Oligarchy?

—Mr. Clair Harmony, Diamond Bar, CA

Oh for the good ol' days when we had people like Walter Cronkite, Ted Koeppel, Peter Jennings, & Walter Winchell! Cristiane Amenpour (whom I enjoyed so much) has all but disappeared...Why? I wonder...Was she too honest? You now have newscasters who don't use proper English, stumble and stutter over three syllable words, sharing inane humor with their co-hosts, laughing inappropriately in relaying tragic animal stories, and appear to have gotten where they are only out of "political correctness," certainly not from ability! I would strongly suggest integrity and responsible, insightful news from these same "chosen" news broadcasters. So far, they're dismally lacking in holding my attention, and ultimately I stray to BBC for accurate and informed news!

—Jambrina Sakellaropoulo, Charlotte, NC

IT'S BAD ENOUGH THAT THEY CAN DO THIS; IT IS WORSE THAT IT CAN BE KEPT SECRET.

—Paul Mayer, Livingston, TX

Perhaps the single largest issue and problem with politics today - is the ability to use money - (and thanks to Citizens United and UNlimited amount) - to misinform for political gain. Both parties do it and the electorate is disgusted and many gullible are confused. DO THE RIGHT THING FOR THIS COUNTRY - DISCLOSE YOUR SOURCES!

—Matthew Piner, Sacramento, CA

I have a right to know broadcasters must do a better job of disclosing the moneyed interestes behind the ads fueling your profits.

This country will come off the rails if we can no longer count on an objective public media. Nothing is more important than the FACTS, and we count on our broadcasters to act more as public guardians and less like Tokyo Rose. Money has already corrupted our electoral process. We the people hope that it is not irreversible. Please don't forget your vital role in sustaining and promoting democracy and the American way in the face of a pile of PAC money provided to "look the other way".

—Timothy Lanners, North Riverside, IL

Real, honest journalism is a requisite for democracy.

—Robert Pavel, Richmond, CA

Get money out of politics and return power to the people. Unlimited spending on Unchecked deceit by Unrevealed donors is a formula for the end of democracy. A voter deceived IS a right to vote denied.

—David A Desautel, Sequim, WA

It is no wonder our country has fallen into the such a sad state, our finest hours behind us. Anew generation of Americans is growing up unformed about what is true in the world. Fox is not interested in American success, only in profit and political power. The rest of the media seems to be following a similar path. Shame on all your houses.

—David Palmer, TUSTIN, CA

Mainstream media has taken over the politics of this great nations. Ultimately decreasing the overall nations awareness and intelligence. This model unfortunately applies to more topics than politics. TV has become an endless source of information that is being abused by huge corporations to further their hidden agendas.

—Alexander Mitchell, Salem, IN

Most helpful would be a requirement that those funding an add be immediately identifiable, either with the add or with a link to the internet listing donors.

—Curtis J. Krock, Champaign, IL

I used to be a reporter. My editor ALWAYS insisted that I get the facts right; that I give the reader a story that informed them, that enabled them to make quality decisions if such were the case. What I see now passing for journalism is little more than corporately sponsored propaganda - the true facts are so hidden and distorted it would take an espionage agent to reveal what's really going on. Help us make informed decisions by exposing the lies and political tricksters.

—Avon J. Bellamy, Baltimore, MD

LETS PASS LAWS THAT ALLOW THE OPPONENT OR THE PUBLIC TO SUE THE CANDIDATES FOR FALSE ADVERTISING. WHEN THEY USE FALSE STATEMENTS ABOUT THEIR OPPONENTS IN THEIR ADS. AND IF FOUND GUILTY HAVE THEIR NAMES REMOVED FROM THE BALLOT.

—Professor Emeritus Peter Bagnolo, Wheaton, IL

We need to know who is paying for this inundation. You must begin to disclose who is behind these adverts by listing the names of those who are providing the money. Why should they be afraid to own up to their political views?

Lets see positive and informative Superpacs ads instead of undisclosed, non fact based ads

—Susan Knappertz, Morristown, NJ

We were told, long ago, how concentrated wealth can impede information and thus democracy. Nothing's changed. "...Neither body to jail nor soul to damn." - Lord Edward Thurlow (1731-1806) describing a new British invention, the corporation. Distributed, hence reliable "information is the currency of democracy." - Thomas Jefferson "The preservation of the means of knowledge among the lowest ranks is of more importance to the public than all the property of all the rich men in the country." - John Adams "It is our job to make women unhappy with what they have." - B. Earl Puckett, Allied Stores Corp. 1953 "Madison Avenue is a very powerful aggression against private consciousness. A demand that you yield your private consciousness to public (corporate) manipulation." - Marshall McLuhan (1911-80) "The 20th century has been characterized by three developments of great political importance: The growth of democracy, the growth of corporate power, and the growth of corporate propaganda as a means of protecting corporate power against democracy." - Alex Carey, Australian social scientist, 1995 "The greatest threat to democracy is the increasing concentration of major electronic media in ever fewer hands." - Rep. David Price (D-NC)

—MB Hardy, Raleigh, NC

WTF? ONLY complete TRANSPARENCY is worth pursuing.

—William Haegele, southampton, PA

We all need a voice that won't be drowned out by the highest bidder.

—Jane Patrick, Cedarville, OH

We need to know whose point of view we are seeing so we can decide for ourselves if it is believable or if the ad will benefit those paying for it. In addition, broadcasters should also point out when statements are false rather than just repeating them. For example, many politicians will state that they never said something when there are many videos and recordings of them saying that exact thing. It's easy to just allow them to get away with saying anything but it takes work to point out when it is incorrect or just plain false. Please do your job!

—Carol Rocha, Martinez, CA

Report the news and the facts , all the facts and let voters decide. Do some investigating and become news reporters. Now I have to look for alternative news sources since I can't get this information from the bought and paid for news agencies. I know and anybody with a brain knows that the media is owned and run by rich billionaires that only want to line their pockets at the expense of the average American.

—John Carruth, Brighton, CO

You cannot allow this disgrace to become a conflict of interest of major proportions.

—Tony Carbonell, New Orleans, LA

The Founding Fathers had no intention of letting any business entity be an American citizen. They fought for the freedom of each and every individual, so that they each had an equal claim on their future. With this current fanatsy of the "coporate" individual flies in the face of common sense, let alone, follow Constitutional aims and goals. Enough is enough!...Stop this lie now.

—Ronald John Waterman, Grand Junction, CO

Can we just plain old hear where the candidates stand on the monumental issues of this precarious time in human history instead of ridiculous gossip, slander, and idiotic rhetoric? What do you take us for, fools?

—Lorrie Ogren, Sturtevant, WI

It is time to help to balance the equation. One way would be for all broadcasters to be required to provide equal time to the public to air adds that counter or challenge the MAINLINE advertisements. It was that way some years ago!!
Why not re-institute that now????

—Dr. Prof Donald Huisingh, Knoxville, TN

Democracy demands that we know who is paying for all these ads.

Carlos Garcia.

—Carlos Garcia, Lancaster, PA

Don't let the voice of one rich prick (liberal or conservative) silence the voices of several thousand others. That is what is happening now and the least you can do is to let us know the name of that one rich prick so that we can know who is silencing the majority. Thank you.

—Rick Nixon, McCloud, CA

A better solution would be to mandate free air time for political candidates and a low cap on their additional spending...

—Leo J. Blackman, New York, NY

I suspect that Newton Minnow would consider today's TV a complete offense even to those who liked his era's Gunsmoke-filled "vast wasteland. And, he'd be right; even if only Bill Paley REALLY liked "Gunsmoke". Time to do something to ensure that the public gets more than conspiracy theories, "reality" TV, poorly thought through political commentary disguised as "news", political programming and political attack ads. What ever happened to responsibility of stations to the public in exchange for being allowed to use our airwave bands?

—Gregg Bragg, Kiawah Island, SC

As a student, when I was in High School 2 years ago, I was fascinated with the political structure of our nation and how much interaction it takes from the people. Sadly, many of my classmates were apathetic due to the inconsistencies that our system provides. Sure, while our system requires voters participation, I now know that we are felt a completely different hand than what we ourselves would chose should most of us have the know-how, and the chance. Things like this stand as a complication of interests for the candidates running for office. By making this information publicly available--or rather, more readily accessible and present, you will allow voters to have a greater understanding of what exactly is funding the people that are running--and why it is funding them as well.

—Devyn Mapes, independence, MO

I watch PBS, C-span, NYS cable channel and the Internet to find the real news. As word spreads you're losing viewers.

—Arline DeMaio, N Massapequa, NY

It is time that we had government "of the people, by the people, for the people". A corporation is not a person. I've never seen one walking down the street, having a meal or using the toilet. But our country is being turned into a sewer by Citizens United.

I demand the right to know who is paying my local news stations to make their anchors parrot political attack ads in their commentary. Even the so-called "liberal" stations (which actually don't exist, they're more like moderate stations) do this. I want to know who's paying to make my news subjective. Have you ever heard of the Fairness and Accuracy In Reporting (FAIR) Act? I expect that in my news reporting. Furthermore, I expect it to be uncorrupted by secret big money influence & special interests.

Do your jobs and tell the truth! If the super PACs are doing the country a good service, then they won't mind. If they are doing the country a disservice, then who cares what they think?! We as voters need to know more about where the information we are receiving is coming from.

—Brett Robert, Coral Springs, FL

Thanks for the infographic. Really spells out why so many Americans know nothing about what is actually happening in our country.

—Sarah Raup, Dunnellon, FL

When I was growing up, in school they taught us that the press was like a 4th form of our government and that their job was to expose backroom deals and to keep the people informed so those in government would know that someone was not just watching but informing the people about what those serving in government were up to. I am not sure why but the Press has not done that job in a long time. It is especially important during election years that the press keep the people informed of what was going on behind the scenes. I also believe that the press has failed to help the people fight the Citizens United ruling by the Supreme court and how it unfairly effects our elections. The Broadcast media makes Billions off political ads, but that does not release them of there duty to the people to keep the American people informed about those running for office and to point out when these so called Super Pac groups are running ads filled with false information.

—Richard Nelson, Lombard, IL

Your response will tell us whether you really care about democracy or just your bottom line.

—Todd Gillette, Arlington, VA

The media is supposed to be the fourth rail of government; supposed to be a voice for democracy; supposed to keep politics free and fair. Where are you? Hiding behind the Koch Brothers and all that lovely corporate money?

—Anne Grady, Golden, CO

Even though the laws have changed during the past year or so, broadcasters still have a choice about their own policies. Do the public a service and provide information on your advertisers.

I understand the windfall is nigh impossible to resist, but please do it for democracy.

—Nancy Churchill, Oregon, IL

The citizens of this nation need accurate information in order to choose the best leader for them. Don't let the SuperPacs be the only source of information for the citizens of America. The Media need to do their job to inform the public. No more punditry, editorializing, just the "facts", please.

Get some backbone man!

—John Schwarzenbach, Penllyn, PA

Please stop the nonsense of false equivalence in the name of "fairness." Corporations have far more money than all the labor unions in the world. CEOs can give vast sums of stockholder money to PACs without even telling the stockholders. Union leaders must stand for election at regular intervals, and the contributions they make are well known to members. Acne is not equivalent to metastasizing melanoma just because they are both diseases of the skin.

Broadcasters should start paying for the Public Airwaves they pollute with drivel and half truth.

—Dorli Rainey, Seattle, WA

Broadcasters have the privilege of using the public airwaves. They also have a duty to keep the public informed. That means letting us know what pac is running commercials, what amount of money they are spending and which candidate is being helped by the commercial. IN ADDITION, BROADCASTERS HAVE AN OBLIGATION TO REFUSE TO ACCEPT ADS THAT ARE FALSE, INACCURATE OR MISLEADING. we are sure that you can do better than you have in the past (swiftboat veterans for truth was a disgrace and an insult to all military from every war) Broadcasters must do better.

The Supreme Courts decision has put the election results into the hands of the Pacs, Superpacs. We the people have been disenfranchised from the election process.

—Juanita Zeinstra, Belmont, MI

Democracy provided the environment in which you were able to grow your business. Don't let plutocracy destroy this country and it's enormous potential.

—Richard Nighbert, Mechanicsburg, PA

Your broadcast license is granted by the people so that you can serve the people by keeping us informed, particularly about political matters. The pablum you serve up instead of real, hard, factual news coverage amounts to fraud. Don't cheat us. Do your job.

—Frederick Tuck, Stanardsville, VA

This election, with broadcaster's complicity, has been bought and sold in the marketplace like soap was being sold. Further proof that Citizens United was the worse Supreme Court decision in my lifetime of nearly seventy years.

—Wayne Renardson, Nashville, TN

This country has always stood for freedom. Don't stand by and see us lose it.

—Barbara Rosenbaum, Southington, CT

Citizens United has been a travesty for a democracy like ours. All the politicians are awash in cash and the media who sell the time for the ads make out like bandits. What happened to the media as truth tellers and the ones who hunted out facts to inform viewers accurately? The First Amendment, if this campaign is any indication, is seriously in need of Amendment. Corporations are not natural persons with First Amendment rights in political speech.

—Madonna Starr, New York, NY

If you believe in serving "the public interest, necessity and convenience" you will release the vital information concerning Political Action Committees and Super PAC's to the public so that they may know who is spending how much and where on your radio and or TV station.

Please show your listeners and viewers where the money is coming from and where it goes. This is news!

—Sarah Roberts, Belle Mead, NJ

Viewers deserve to know who pays for ads. A vague "paid for by . . . statement does not work. Viewers deserve to know the real funders of the political ads. Viewers can choose not to view but that does not support the best for the voters or the country.

—Ellen Coker, Fort Collins, CO

FCC should make ads for political candidates illegal on TV. They do not help the democratic process. They mislead!

Let the public know who's behind the flood of lies with full and clear disclosure. Democracy depends on an educated electorate not one brainwashed by corporate interests.

—Robert Taylor, ukiah, CA

I have started my own campaign, telling everyone I know to cut down on their TV watch time, even stop watching certain times of the day or week. And to turn off commercials of any kind especially political ads. Just turn off the sound, change channels, or better yet just turn off the TV. Hey, it's biz on your end, well it's also my decision on my end.

We 'mute' ALL political ads and encourage everyone we know to do the same. In addition, we will contact other advertisers of shows to pull their product ads if stations continue to accept these political ads.

—Gail Nuckels, Fox Island, WA

We don't want money corrupted government despite the damn republican's desires to keep it corrupt. We NEED to know who's paying for political ads and NEED to have it said LOUD AND CLEAR so we know who's trying to bribe who!!!

—Ralph Meyer, Bakerstown, PA

It is repugnant that this kind of money is being spent in an election year when millions of people are out of work, homeless, or can't see a doctor. At least give us the courtesy of knowing who is buying access that is against the interests of those of us with only one vote each.

—Kristin Erman, Joplin, MO

I think we need tell local & national broadcasters that we that we need to slow down on these attack ads that are flooding the airwaves & everyone should be worried about it. The Citizens United ruling made matters worse in putting corporations over people & it's also drowning out our local voices. We need to tell the broadcasters that enough is enough before it's a much bigger problem many years from now. Thank you! Sincerely, Derek Gendvil

Clean it up! People in my genrration (gen x) are already switching you off in record numbers. As TV becomes less relevant each day, junk ads run that are worse than normal ads. Don't do yourself in, make content relevant and real. My dad's generation may be susceptible to attack ads but mine will be absolutely intolerant of them. Cleaning up the airwaves will benefit you and your viewers in the long-run.

—Roy Hague, Seattle, WA

I want to know exactly who is funding ads and I want you to provide real and true information, not propoganda. The stakes are too high for monetary interests to take precedence. To the right thing...for America, not for your pocketbook.

—Susan Higgins, san francisco, CA

Money is corrupting our government and our elections and it is past time for Broadcasters in this country to change the way they are doing business. Your use of public airways demands that you provide the public with information for making informed decisions in elections and not sixty second commercials, mostly outright lies and at best altered facts.

—John Toth, Salem, IL

Broadcasters can begin by exposing the affiliations of PACs and Super PACs and who their financial backers are.

—Greg MacGowan, Waltham, MA

Broadcasters are the beneficiaries of our corrupt political financing system. Ads should inform and not demonize.

The broadcast media are so unfair to not give the people the correct and truthful information during this election period.

—Geraldine Todd, Sun City, AZ

We, the public, demand Free Press objective reporting and analysis of the POV of the different Political Parties and candidates, allowing us, the private citizens, to read, analyze, and make independent decisions re. candidates and political issues.

—Robb Rosen, Northridge, CA

It is shameful that our elections have become auctions. Third party special interests are making candidates a commodity to be sold like a detergent. We can't have a democracy with the huge amounts of money driving negative ads that destroy public trust.

—Bonnie Block, Madison, WI

We must hear the truth from our local and national broadcasters.

3 billion. I wonder how many lives of the disenfranchised this amount negatively effects.

—Vincent Patti, Long Beach, CA

I didn't read anywhere in the Constitution that, any amouht can be given towards a candidate in the elections...I thought the decisions was for a $2,000 donation....from all...This is just another law broken by the Republican Party to oust Pres. Obama at any cost...If they have this much money to throw around, why not pay the debt they incurred...The debt brought on by their last "illegal" presidential, candidate. G.W. The world is watching you. Why not tell the people the "TRUTH" and let them decide, what your trying to buy...Shame on those who do underhanded things...But I gues thye carry the "shame" where thry sit...and if the "SHOE FITS, WEAR IT!" Be carefuk of what you wish for, because "What goes around, comes around!" You might try suppressing voters, buying elections, but you may end up wearing the EGG Face, and losing anyway...

SHOW ME THE MONEY TRAIL.....

—Edmund Pusch, Omaha, NE

To ensure that we have an informed electorate, a necessity for true democracy to exist, we need transparency in media purchases by interested parties. In other words, we need to know who gets money from whom to better decide whom to elect. Wider coverage of politicians and politics also is needed to ensure that the people are properly informed, enabling them to better decide whom to support.

—John Davis, Saco, ME

This decision from the Supreme Court has made a joke of our elections. It needs to be reversed. Corporations are NOT people!

—Pamela DeFilippo, Durham, CT

Just think: if you expose who is spending money on the campaigns, your ratings will skyrocket! You won't stop getting the money for the ads because more people will be watching them. All of those people will know who paid for those ads, so it's a win-win for all concerned!

—Kelly Allison, Berlin, MD

You're using public airwaves, my friends. In return for this use, you owe us the shining of light upon those who seek to influence the direction of public policy. After all, you are called the "National Association of Broadcasters", not the "National Association of Information Buriers". Serve the public, not just your bank accounts.

—Kristin Clark, North Kingstown, RI

PLEASE DO YOUR JOB, WHICH IT TO KEEP US INFORMED IN AN UNBIASED WAY - DON'T GIVE IN TO THE TEMPTATION TO JUST TAKE THE MONEY AND RUN, WITHOUT DOING YOUR PART BY GIVING FAIR AND IMPARTIAL INFORMATION.

—Patricia Guthrie, Chalfont, PA

It's outrageous that they are allowed to spend this much money on political campaigns to 'buy' Congress, but can avoid paying their taxes that would build the economy, and their businesses as a result of that. And WHAT HAPPENED TO TRUTH IN ADVERTISING? I used to make TV commercials, and when doing a detergent commercial during which the detergent had to take a stain out of a dress, the FCC (/) was there measuring the water temperature, the amount of detergent used, making sure no other product was added to the wash, and checking to make sure that it did indeed remove the stain completely. If there was the slightest shadow left, they couldn't use the commercial. But we have Senators bragging on National TV that they've increased the number of jobs in their State, when infact, they not only haven't, but they've voted against tens of thousands of jobs coming into their state. They say there are more people out of work now than when Obama took office - a blatant lie. They make commercials in which they knowingly give false information, and they get away with it. Why aren't these commercials fact-checked before they are aired?

—nancy O'Hearn, Framingham, MA

This is information we truly need to know, in order to protect our democratic processes.

—Sally Thomas, Charlotte, NC

The First Amendment of the United States Constitution makes you, the Press, guardians of Democracy. Lewis Powell made you, the media, spokesmen for the wealthy, lap dogs instead of guard dogs. The Constitutional duty to protect Democracy takes precedence over the "duty" to protect and promote Wealth and Power. Do your job!

—Gordon Miller, Walnut Creek, CA

Broadcasting uses PUBLIC airwaves and is supposed to serve the PUBLIC in exchange for permission to broadcast. Please fulfill that obligation with an open process that keeps the PUBLIC accurately advised of what's transpiring, and putting the PUBLIC's interests first.

—Michael Gnat, Brooklyn, NY

STOP THE GLUTTONY!!

—Steven B Combes, Gainesville, FL

With a projected $3 billion in political-ad money flooding into local television stations this election season, broadcasters must do right by the viewing and voting public. That means providing real information on the deep-pocketed interests behind this money, and investing profits into comprehensive election coverage. Let the companies that control local TV stations across the country know that we are watching them. Broadcasters shouldn't get a free pass in 2012.

—Val Wilk, Calumet City, IL

We are watching you, and will communicate our views to both your organization, and the FCC.

—D Binder, Portland, ME

Aimee Humphreys

—Aimee Humphreys, Fair Haven, NJ

It's only right to disclose the source of political funding.

—Thomas McCurdy, Sandy, UT

The news I watch is very much dependent on how much and what kind of PAC money your network receives.

—Alexander Harner, Astoria, NY

info is power to the people

—Francesco V. Greco, san francisco, CA

Whatever became of The Commons? The airwaves are public property!

—Judith Eda, Ithaca, NY

For the people and by the people.....

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR THE TRUTH!

—Peter Curia, Scottsdale, AZ

Please: take responsibility for the many millions of dollars you will be raking in over the next several months. Your acceptance of ads that are downright negative and often misleading is precisely the moment in which you should don your "responsibility" hat and indicate the source of those ads. If you decide that it is not incumbent upon you to help viewers discern truth in these campaigns, that immediately becomes a decision to deny full disclosure to your viewers. Do not share in the activity of the purchasers of the ads to mislead the voters. You should not think that you have no responsibility to further a discourse that is honest, respectful, and accurate. Please.

—Sister Luanne Durst, La Crosse, WI

The public airwaves are public property. Since the inception of radio and TV, corporations like yours have used these airwaves without paying a cent to the public. It is time to cough up what you owe your countrymen, if you have any decency or patriotism. Ron Russell

—Ron Russell, Pacific Grove, CA

What's the difference between a corrupt democracy and any other form of corrupt government? Q: How much longer until we adopt open-source/open-standards PC software for all federal, state, and local government agencies? Do you realize how much money this could save the American taxpayers? And, if it's good enough for the rest of the world (God's: pop 7.0 billion!) we live in, why shouldn't it be good enough for the U.S.A.? A: 10 Steps To Open Government -- InformationWeek "10 Milestones - President Obama set the direction for open government with his "Transparency and Open Government" memo on Jan. 21, 2009, one day after he took office. By December 2009, the 11-page Open Government Directive was in place, outlining a series of requirements. The top 10 accomplishments so far:" <http://www.informationweek.com/news/government/policy/showArticle.ticle.jhtml?articleID=22921846> 8 Obama: "The rest of the world (God's: pop 7.0 billion!) isn't stupid!" After all, isn't over one-third of that world already Microsoft free? Patriotism begins with knowledge, not lies and propaganda. Most of society, including the majority of all the world's Christianity, prefers the knowledge. -Ron Wike Vietnam veteran

—Ronald Wike, Hummelstown, PA

Please do not contribute to the demise of democracy by your greed. We NEED you to serve us, not the uber-rich only. Do your journalistic duty.

—Frances J. Barber, Seattle, WA

I live in a very conservative state and I simply do not believe that my local broadcasters aren't under the watchful eye - and direction - of their very conservative "handlers" (i.e., the very conservative movers-and-shakers and powerbrokers both in and out of the state, both known and unknown). THAT is not fair-and-balanced. THAT is not democracy. THAT is Fascism.

—Meredith Sheane, Missoula, MT

How about a little integrity? You wouldn't run ads for a food product that was grown or processed over a toxic wastes dump ... would you? So why on earth are you allowing big bucks to poison the minds of the viewing public with lies, half-truths, and toxic allegations presented as "God's honest truth!" Remember that what you air is how you are perceived ... and lately that has been pretty mucky-muddy in the arena of politics.

—L D Best, Lebanon, OH

All we're asking for is the truth

—Henry Schwan, Aptos, CA

I want to believe that broadcasters do not remain viable just to get from election season windfall to election season windfall. I grew up thinking broadcasters are the citizens' in-road to information. Take your profits, but tell the public where the money comes from.

—Rita C. Kidd, Catheys Valley, CA

You can still make plenty of money while informing viewers/listeners who is responsible for the political ads.

—Dorothy Enright, Glenside, PA

Stop this Madness or else

—David Blake, St Petersburg, FL

Media must stop behaving like pawns of the corporations that own them and the Wall Street money that exerts excessive influence on them.

—Paul Morton Ganeles, Tucson, AZ

I mean, come on.

—Benjamin Wright, San Francisco, CA

Enough already!! There are plenty of citizens involved in gathering and using information. We vote and we are getting sick and tired of being grouped with all the sheep you have sucked into your crap. Make the changes now before November and placate thinking people who always vote!!

—Robert Corrao, Sea Cliff, NY

Keep the money out of politics!

—Marey Cohen, Spring, TX

It is unthinkable and against the long held American value of fair play to permit greedily distributed wealth to influence the outcome of an election, or to influence it behind the backs of the American people through the buying off of the press. That the press would promote this kind of unfair play for profit only without defending its readers and its credibility is reprehensible and will either lead to the demise of the free press or the downfall of the free state as we know it.

—Tim Holm, evans, CO

A democracy is only as free and fair as the information the people receive.

—Donna Gann, Bernard, ME

Start paying attention to the demands of your paying, viewing customers for a change. Thank you.

—Dennis Jackson, Norco, CA

You are part of what is destroying democracy. No information on what our government is doing, no accountability for who is running ads, no telling who is lying to us, no real news. Without an informed citizenship, we are doomed. You should be held accountable.

—Lee Smith, CA Hot Springs, CA

Your GREED is part of World's problem - control it yourself, so we wont have to!

—Tony Bolotsky, N.Hollywood, CA

Shed light rather than create heat!

—Michael Lane, Wichita, KS

remember what real reporting was like when reporters like Cronkite had the total respect of his listeners. Now you are like every company pushing shoddy goods. not worth listening to.

—Barrie Johnson, Exeland, WI

This can only add to make your organizations more objective and credible as journalists by performing a role in a democracy we so desperately need. The people are watching.

—Ronald Moniz, Tiverton, RI

When we eliminate your power and influence, we're sure to remember all you did to help and to serve the best interests of the people.

—Jim Vaughan, Pittsburg, CA

These actions pollute journalism, detract from open dialogue and corrupt the basic fabric of our democratic republic. Cut the crap.

—J Baquie, Tampa, FL

We are so tired of your milk toast reporting. It seems you are hand in hand with the politicians. We demand you report money that is donated, to whom and from whom!

—Faye Cook, McAllen, TX

Just because it is more financially prudent to keep us in the dark, does not mean that WE like it or think so!

—Catherine Cox, Tucson, AZ

I implore you to use the windfall of monies you receive for advertising from Super PAC's and political candidates to provide more in depth pre-election informative news broadcasting.

—Frank Evelhoch II, Mechanicsburg, PA

When we can go from station to station and hear exactly the same news, the same pictures and the same comments, something is wrong. Sunday morning shows on T.V. with commentators is our only chance for good news unless we listen to PBS during the week. Bring back Bill Moyers.

—Donna Lee & Gregory, Clinton, WA

Shouldn't these ads be truthful?

—Emile G. Ilchuk, N. Catasauqua, PA

You people are scum....

—Robert Emminger, Wade, NC

remember that a society is only as free as its citizens are properly informed by the media. We need complete reporting - means all sides of an issue.

—Taber Baise, Charlottesville, IN

Corporations should not be allowed to contribute ANY money to political campaigns. ONLY people should have that option. And corporations are NOT people.

—John Comella, Philadelphia, PA

Further, if you run more than one ad per hour, per politician, I will no longer watch your network for this period of time, and will watch other channels!

—Mike Straub, Fort Myers, FL

The media is not innocent. Act responsibly.

—Thomas Gump, Santa Fe, NM

Stop using stories of celebrities as 'news'. These belong on 'Entertainment Tonight' and its ilk. Let's see hard news that inform citizens about important issues!

—Wayne Pipke, Rocky Hill, CT

Broadcasters have a big responsibility to their viewers and listeners to insure that their airwaves are not being used to deceive. Please take your responsibility seriously and refuse to air deceptive ads. Thanks.

—Brian McNaughton, Trout Creek, MT

It is essential to making an informed decision to know the source of the ads we see on TV. My family & I (4 are voters) will be watching closely to see that broadcasters do their job!

—Shirley Zabaneh, North Olmsted, OH

When these political ads are run, there should be a disclosure of exactly who or what has paid for the ad

—Beth Raynis, Naperville, IL

Expose the lies in ads.

—Charles Langner, Camp Douglas, WI

"I focus purely on the banks, markets and finance and through that prism I see clearly!" - Max Keiser "Anyone who believes exponential growth can go on forever in a finite world is either a madman or an economist." - Kenneth Boulding "The real menace of our Republic is the invisible government which like a giant octopus sprawls its slimy legs over our cities, states and nation. At the head is a small group of banking houses. This little coterie runs our government for their own selfish ends. It operates under cover of a self-created screen, seizes our executive officers, legislative bodies, schools, courts, newspapers and every agency created for the public protection." - N.Y. Mayor, John Hylan "We are grateful to the Washington Post, New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respect their promises of discretion for almost 40 years. It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subject to the bright lights of publicity during those years. But, the work is now much more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a World Government. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national autodetermination practiced in past centuries." - David Rockefeller "We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the civilized world. No longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men." - Woodrow Wilson "I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their money, first by inflation and then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them (around the banks), will deprive the people of their property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs." - President Thomas Jefferson (a founder of America. In a letter to the Secretary of Treasury Albert Gallatin, 1802. Published 1809) "This country is headed toward a single and splendid government of an aristocracy founded on banking institutions and monied incorporations and if this tendency continues it will be the end of freedom and democracy, the few will be ruling and riding over the plundered plowman and the beggar" -Thomas Jefferson "People without homes will not quarrel with their leaders. This is well known among our principle men now engaged in forming an imperialism of capitalism to govern the world. By dividing the people we can get them to expend their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us except as teachers of the common herd." - J. P. Morgan "To achieve world government, it is necessary to remove from the minds of men their individualism, loyalty to family tradition, national patriotism and religious dogmas. If it cannot be done gently, it may have to be done violently." - G. Brock Chisholm, "The Re-Establishment of Peacetime Society" "The financial system has been turned over to the Federal Reserve Board. That Board administers the finance system by authority of a purely profiteering group. The system is Private, conducted for the sole purpose of obtaining the greatest possible profits from the use of other people's money." - Charles A. Lindbergh Sr., 1923 "Mr. Chairman, we have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Banks, hereinafter called the Fed...This evil institution has impoverished and ruined the people of these United States, has bankrupted itself, and has practically bankrupted our Government." - Congressman Louis T. McFadden, May 23, 1933 "What country can preserve its liberties, if its rulers are not warned from time to time, that this people preserve the spirit of resistance? Let them take arms. The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants!" - Thomas Jefferson "Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to government and recognized as its most sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and of democracy is idle and futile." - William Lyon Mackenzie King "When a government is dependent upon bankers for money, they and not the leaders of the government control the situation, since the hand that gives is above the hand that takes. Money has no motherland; financiers are without patriotism and without decency; their sole object is gain." - Napoleon Bonaparte "It is well enough that people of the nation do not understand our banking and monetary system, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning." - Henry Ford "The issue which has swept down the centuries and which will have to be fought sooner or later is the people versus the banks." - Lord Acton "Gentlemen, I have had men watching you for a long time and I am convinced that you have used the funds of the bank to speculate in the breadstuffs of the country. When you won, you divided the profits amongst you, and when you lost, you charged it to the bank. You tell me that if I take the deposits from the bank and annul its charter, I shall ruin ten thousand families. That may be true, gentlemen, but that is your sin! Should I let you go on, you will ruin fifty thousand families, and that would be my sin! You are a den of vipers and thieves. I intend to rout you out, and by the grace of the Eternal God, will rout you out." - Andrew Jackson „Let me issue and control a nation's money and I care not who writes or enforces the laws." - Mayer Amschel Rothschild; 1790 "History records that the money changers have used every form of abuse, intrigue, deceit, and violent means possible to maintain their control over governments by controlling money and its issuance." - James Madison "Money is a new form of slavery, and distinguishable from the old simply by the fact that it is impersonal - that there is no human relation between master and slave." - Leo Tolstoy "But if you want to continue to be slaves of the banks and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let bankers continue to create money and control credit." - Josiah Stamp "The bankers own the earth. Take it away from them, but leave them the power to create money, they will create enough deposits to buy it back again. However, take it away from them, and all the great fortunes like mine will disappear and they ought to disappear, for this would be a happier and better world to live in. But, if you wish to remain the slaves of bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, let them continue to create money." - Sir Josiah Stamp, Director of the Bank of England "None are more hopelessly enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free." - Johann Wolfgang von Goethe "Whoever controls the volume of money in our country is absolute master of all industry and commerce and when you realize that the entire system is very easily controlled, one way or another, by a few powerful men at the top, you will not have to be told how periods of inflation and depression originate." - 1881: President James A. Garfield (The 20th President of the United States who lasted only 100 Days, two weeks before he is assassinated) "When the people shall have nothing more to eat, they will eat the rich." - Jean-Jacques Rousseau

—Holger Tressin, Louisville, KY

Don't become "aiders and abettors" of the corruption of our politics. Peace.
—Eldon D. Wedlock, St. Petersburg, FL

I am very disappointed at the increasing Corporate titl of public broadcasting in general.
—M J Shepley, Sac, CA

You must decide who are are serving, so the rest of us can make the right decisions.
—Billie Biederman, New York, NY

We are a democracy; start acknowledging that fact and act more responsibly toward American citizens!
—Bill & Marilyn Voorhies, West Tremont, ME

I think it would be a real ratings coup for any broadcast to graphically add LOGOS to the screen whenever a candidate is displayed, indicating the primary financiers of that candidate.
—James C. O'Donnell Iii, Columbia, MO

You're obviously hiding your connections. Why?
—Chris Saia, Brooklyn,, NY

Bring back free speech & truth to the masses.
—Michael Parker, Las Vegas, NV

Stop protecting people who want to steal elections and Democracy from the 99%.
—Rory O'Neil, Carlsbad, NM

Money is corrupting our entire system. Americans deserve to know which companies are backing which politician!
—Helene Mertz, houston, TX

Broadcasters, as the current generation of the "fifth estate" it is your duty to the nation that allows you to use their air waves to tell the story behind every dollar collected and every dollar spent in a campaign! Do not ignore the consequences of unchecked political power as they be at your doorstep before you know it!
—Kelly Tappan, Colorado Springs, CO

You are the Fourth Estate...act like it!!!
—Misty Hay, Santa Rosa, CA

While at it, remove thomas, alito, scalia, and roberts from the crooked Supreme Court.
—Tim Derflinger, Waikoloa, HI

It is important for citizens of this country to know who is paying to elect our public officials and what they expect in return.

—Jeffrey Smith, East Waterboro, ME

Do your job, don't let big money run everything.

—Bill Burns, Buda, TX

I want true coverage not a bunch of propaganda and sound bites from fat, rich, middle aged men! Please cover the real truth for the rest of us - healthcare under republicans will be meaningless, a service reserved for the very wealthy.

—Nancy Stein, pt. reyes, CA

Big time profits should equal thorough responsible reporting to your audience. Got it?

—Louise B Brown, New York, NY

I rely on Public television for my news because of issues like this. Carol Stern

—Carol Stern, cupertino, CA

It would be especially appropriate to use that Supreme Court decision windfall to fund effective and accurate reporting on political issues.

—Stephen Vandivere, Centreville, VA

It's time to start paying for your use of the Nation's broadcast spectrum. This payment is cheap - it's only information! It's one way to keep your broadcast licenses. Thank you very kindly for your time and attention.

—Brett Greisen, Astoria, NY

You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all of the time.

—Sharon Hampton, anaheim hills, CA

Watch the BBC and avoid USA television until the election is over.

—Frank Thompson, Ruidoso, NM

p.s. I compared one "smack-suck" rendition of world (sn)ews to another: The latter had seven more really important bits of info vs the former made two kinds of faces: "Isn't this just AWFUL???" and "At least the brave fireman saved the little girl's puppy despite the ruined home; and her folks were grateful to god that no one was killed." (nothing about global warming or continued failure to pay insurance claims.)

—Steve Voelkel, Altamont, TN

we must have an honest account of these practices.

—Philip G. Rich, Albany, NY

With the flood of corporate money backing extremist agenda,the money trail needs reposed

—Keith Smith, Bulan, KY

Don't withhold critical information.

—Donna Birdsong, Austin, TX

The money spent buying campaigns could employ thousands of Americans...thought you LOVED America? Couldn't convince me!

—Sharon Stewart, North Ridgeville, OH

Think about your responsibility to the people of America, to see that we have elections not grossly influenced by big money. Yes... it's revenue to you. But, it's also your place to keep everything out in the open.

—William Stewart, Las Vegas, NV

The ads won't stay anonymous for long; is it worth it to your coffers to continue to allow zero coverage on this blatant subversion of democracy?

—Will Mattsson, Ukiah, CA

The Citizen United case is one of the most unconcievable, destructive results in the last 100 years. And for the media, especially network TV, it is an especially double whammy. They receive $ from the marketing blitz, and, as a corp., get to donate $ to whomever they please anonymously. So they get to dictate politics and prosper from their dictation. Must be nice.

—Pete Joachim, Basking Ridge, NJ

Campaigns, PACs and Super PACs will spend a projected $3 billion on political ads in 2012. Most of that money will go into the pockets of local broadcasters. In return, broadcasters must do a better job of disclosing the moneyed interests behind the ads fueling their profits. They must also invest in the kind of hard-hitting political coverage that truly informs viewers. As members of your communities we demand that you make these changes now before viewers become voters on Election Day.

—malcolm Stevens, IOS ANGELES, CA

A government that is bought with media as an accessory to the fact, will bring devastating damage to our country and end our Democracy.

—Cheryl Liniman, Parma, OH

Democracy is being overtaken by those with the deepest pockets. Please stop this insanity -- and undemocratic process -- now!

—Marilyn Scherfen, Atlantic Highlands, NJ

Is your job collusion or reporting the news? Before you write your next word, you need to clarify that and let us all know.

—Terry Strauss, Mill Valley, CA

This should be stopped.

—Stephen Holmes, Kansas City, MO 64157, MO

If you wonder why your ratings are dropping, no one believes what you broadcast because the corporations are controlling your Content breakaway!

—Mike Cox, Silver City, NM

We should have total public financing of all Federal elections, with the broadcast media donating a certain proportion of their time as recompense for their free use of the air waves. Public service! This demand for disclosure is certainly a modest.

—Monte K. Snyder, Middletown, OH

Remember your responsibility as a journalist. Investigate, fact check and report.

—Tom Backus, Grand Blanc, MI

If free speech entitles one to give unlimited amounts of money to candidates and to organizations campaigning on their behalf, then it is only honest and right that the rest of us know who it is who is doing the speaking. I urge full disclosure and reporting of campaign finance, particularly the Super-PACs and other bodies that have emerged since last year's Citizens United Supreme Court ruling. Thank you.

—William White, Seattle, WA

If you know it, tell us! We'd like to know it too!

—Johnny Guigneaux, van nuys, CA

Oligarchy must not prevail.

—Sandip K. Dasverma, Richland, WA

Stop abetting the coup d'etat with your silence!

—Chris and Mary Fogarty, Chicago, IL

In the same way that every consumer has a right to know what ingredients are in the food and other items they buy, we television consumers NEAED to know who has paid for something being broadcast into our homes.

—Nancy Devine, Mountain View, CA

I have been dismayed with the amount of mis-information being spewed on the airwaves, with little fact checking. That is the responsibility of broadcasters, to tell the news, ie the truth without spin, regardless of political party. Especially those that operate over public airwaves that require at least some public service in exchange.

—Lisa Dixon, New York, NY

And balance reporting. Democrats are caucusing and voting in primaries for President Obama yet you repeatedly fail to talk about those!

—Donna C West, Las Vegas, NV

An informed citizenry is an essential component to a truly great society. Please take steps to insure that the people you serve or are allegedly serving are getting the most accurate information to make informed decisions to move our country forward to a better place.

—Marilyn Salter, McMinnville, OR

When your station gets political ad funds, it is critical that your commentators and newscasters DISCLOSE how much your station gets. It helps viewers understand why sometimes it seems as though you fail to critically cover campaign PACs and SuperPACs. Please inform your viewers lest we think you complicit in the silence we currently hear.

—Jackie Goldberg, Los Angeles, CA

Your JOB is to report the news!!

—Karen Christian, Vail, AZ

Please remember that the public air ways are for the convenience, interest and necessity of the public. The biased reporting has been found out and will not be tolerated. The large media corps. have a monopoly and have failed to do the right kind of programing. It is way past time for an accounting.

—Carmen Miller, Kennebec, SD

This forthright action by American broadcasters would help consumers (we the 99%!) know the source of advertising money. It's the patriotic, democratic (small "d"), right thing to go, as the "gatekeepers" of the American information stream.

—Mary Ober, Pepper Pike, OH

I, and hundreds of thousands like me, will be watching you--so why not start working on these two issues before we have to start shaming you by picketing or whatever we have to do?

—Thomas P Wahl, Collegeville, MN

I think a refund is due to cable subscribers. We buy cable for our entertainment, not sleazy campaign ads. We should not have to pay to see those ads. They certainly are not entertainment, and definitely not informative. I think the FCC, and congress, should address the cable subscribers' rights. After all the cable companies are making a fortune off these ads.

—Charles Semler, Sharpsburg, MD

Insist that candidates respond to the issues. Enough of the name calling.

—Bill Hoppe, Kennewick, WA

Do the right thing now...or...you will be vetted later.

—Ron Lehman, Sun Valley, CA

If you have access to the public airwaves, more is actually required than "just" providing what the (uneducated) masses want. You have a responsibility to report news, world events, and on things that truly shape our future.

—Per-Ola Selander, Kirkland, WA

Where is the investigative journalism. Get to it, unless, of course, YOU are part of the problem, rather than the solution!!!!!!

—Don Huston, Las Vegas, NV

Send Newt to the MOON

—David Rousseau, Clarkston, WA

"Show me the money" and also show me where it comes from and who profits from it.

—Bettie J. Reina, Milmay, NJ

Where are our courageous free-press broadcasters and investigative reporters? Most of you are part of the 99%!
Help us!

—Cecilia Lieder, Duluth, MN

The unchecked flow of campaign cash and untrue TV advertising is destroying what little is left of democracy and freedom in this country. FULL AND COMPLETE DISCLOSURE of all individual and corporate campaign funds must be reported and dishonest ads must be exposed for the lies they are.

—Robert Schwartz, Columbia, MO

You bring the noise into my living room, so tell me the names of the noisemakers!

—Ray Perkins, Owenton, KY

With all of the money you're making from this campaign season, you could afford to invest in some actual journalism and stop ambulance chasing.

—Shawn Saving, Kansas City, MO

It is absolutely disgusting to see the amount of airtime that is wasted on "celebrity gossip" news, and the absolute lack of investigative reporting. What happened to TV news that actually mattered? That actually informed the viewers about real issues? Broadcast news is such a mockery of its former self right now.

—Deanna Juszczak, Beaver, PA

WTF are you protecting
—Rand Huwe, Bloomington, MN

The greed is irrational. Everybody loses. Shame on the broadcasters for being bought as easily as congress.
SHAME!
—Thomas Brown, Williamstown, KY

Viewers who trust you will earn you more money long-term than an advertiser who threatens or insists on non-disclosure agreements. If someone offers you a deal with non-disclosure attached please reject the offer and then disclose the details of the offer and identity of the party.
—Justin Shaw, Forest Grove, OR

We are watching what you do not necessarily what is on your station.
—Diane A. Brown, Walla Walla, WA

Make America a free Democracy. Stop the censorship and propaganda. At present, we are no better than Iran.
—Julea Bacall, Campbell, CA

We are supposed to have a fair and balanced news broadcasters. Unfortunately most stations are own by media conglomerates that are not fair or balanced. Please hold the political ads to a higher standard. Disclose moneyed interest so viewers are truly informed.
—Nancy Hummel, Austin, TX

Just because the congress won't make this a law doesn't mean it's not the right thing to do. Let us know who is funding these attack ads.
—Joe Pratt, Kensington, CA

The people have a right to know who is spending the big bucks to buy your vote.
—Arleen S. Wiley, Mena, AR

It is not right to allow moneyed people to control the general information presented by those channels. They have already lied to them, giving false information on your channels. Most channels want their customers to trust them. These adds stop all that.

I don't listen to ads nor read any unsolicited mail. The big money spent on politics is irresponsible and disgusting. There are needy people in this world that could use the money
—Ned Hatfield, Freedom, NH

What would make the best news -- and fairest government: Your courage in revealing where the floods of anonymous corporate money you receive for election campaign ads are coming from.

—Sigrid Asmus, Seattle, WA

We need evaluation of truth of ads in a timely fashion as well as who all who pay for ads.

—Dr. Dorothy Cinquemani, Largo, FL

If the candidates refuse to tell us, you have to. You want us to trust what you say? Tell us who told you to say it.

—Mercedes Lackey, CLAREMORE, OK

Instead of being scard of wealth stockholders and owners, Be come heroes and report news important to the people and do it truthfully

—Richard Berghofer, Cudahy, WI

It is your moral obligation to serve the interests of our nation. You can do this by providing balanced, truthful reporting on the issues. Remember that when your FCC licence comes up for renewal.

—Joan Ratzlaff, Salina, KS

I can only imagine all the wonderful things that could be done in this country with all of this obscene campaign spending. It is truly shameful!!!

—Gayle Abbott, Colorado Springs, CO

James Powers

—James Powers, springfield, VA

You should not be able to be bought. You should deliver the truth through the media. Oh for the broadcasters of old who loved to break a story ... a true story

—Paula Bourgeois, Woodland Park, CO

The airwaves belong to the people. I want the truth!

—Margaret Wilson, Green Bay, WI

Most of us are powerless to do anything about this problem, but you at the FCC can make a difference.

we should know who is trying to influence us!

—Andrew Colletto, somerset, NJ

It can honestly be said to any person who admits that he or she gets all or most of their elections information from TV: "it's better for the country if you don't vote, in that case."

—Ted Kozlowski, Portland, OR

Rich and anonymous is the opposite of democratic

—James and Pok Burch, Las Vegas, NV

Broadcasters should still be required to serve the PUBLIC INTEREST, CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY.

—Jonah K. Oxman, Skokie, IL

Please show the world that America is not based on, and working for, the corrupt.

Unchecked power can mean unchecked abuse.

—William Eley, chicago, IL

I am getting so tired of what many broadcasters consider news. I check out Facebook and Twitter for better information

—Yvonne Wootten, Lexington, MI

Real information is IMPORTANT! Do not just repeat "talking points" research and report FACTS American public must be correctly informed to be able to vote intelligently

—Lisa Turner, Clifton, CO

Occupy the News!

—Claire T. Turlo, Peaks Island, ME

I really miss the old fashioned news broadcaster who gave information, facts, and sources so that I could learn what was going on. Broadcasters must tell us who is behind the ads. Broadcasters must tell the details and not hide the details. Enough is enough. The public is not stupid.

—Martha Scoppa, Liberty, NY

Transparency is needed NOW!! If you are gonna put the 1% and their agenda on parade... put the truth of who, where, when and how much up front for the 99% to make truly informed choices.

—RL White, Portland, OR

I agree with one Wall Street Protester poster I saw which read, "politicians should have to wear NASCAR uniforms with all their corporate backers labelled on them."

—Andrea Lyn @ulcini, Hermosa Beach, CA

Don't let these PACs buy you, too!

—Valerie Friedman, Orlando, FL

Citizens United has got to be one of the WORSE Supreme Court Rulings in history in terms of subverting our democracy for the benefit of the rich. If we can overturn it yet, be assured WE The People WILL!

—Melissa Houle, Mountain View, CA

I am tired of political ads, there are way too many and they contain no useful information. Broadcaster should ban all negative ads. Candidates should only be allowed to promote what they would like to accomplish in the office they are running for.

—Marie Leven, Flushing, MI

You have public service responsibilities under the law.

—Jerald Vinikoff, Mechanicville, NY

The vast wasteland you foist on us is one thing, but venomous political ads that you run without filtering is one step above porn.

—Franz Wolff, Tower Lakes, IL

They're PUBLIC airwaves. A set amount of time should be equally given to each candidate on the ballot. Any time purchased by PACs should be disclosed to the SOURCE of the PAC funds.

—Chuck Mellin, Chicago, IL

You don't own the air waves - you are allowed to use them only so long as you serve the public good. Shape up!

—George Rappolt, Needham, MA

Democracy is imperiled by the supreme court ruling of Citizens United and by the exercise of corporate money flooding elections. As journalists you are responsible for reporting where this money is coming from, how much, who are the beneficiaries and other pertinent facts.

—Stan Smith, Waynesville, NC

Your support just means so much.

—Cort Brumfield, Portland, OR

In Columbus the "Dispatch" doesn't even print letters to the editor which tell the truth. They print letters from extremists that make no sense. Our "news" doesn't want us to know the truth.

—Karen Linn, Westerville, OH

It is time you started reporting the real news.

—Beatrice Delph, Dayton, OH

Transparency is very important in politics. The public should know everything about the money that flows into these campaigns. The media must not drop the ball on this.

—Randolph Payne, city, MI

"Money doesn't talk; it swears." Time to reveal the men behind the curtain. Our democracy must be transparent to survive. so far, it is not either.

—Theron P. Snell, Racine, WI

Fulfill your corporate charter and serve the public on our airwaves.

—Anthony Buch, Seattle, WA

If you want to make George Orwell's 1984 Big Brother the absolute reality in broadcasting, letting a small group of billionaires spread their hate and call it factual information makes it so. And it's all downhill for civilization when it becomes the norm.

—Robert Skillstad, Long Beach, CA

If our tax dollars are used for their use of our airwaves, they need to be accountable just like everyone else, if not more so.

—Carol Kern, Oberlin, OH

I'm just sick of it all, and just acting like certain nominees don't exist is just wrong!

—Kurtis Helman, Cleveland, OH

Publish the amount and names of people paying for all advertisements: why else advertise, eh?

—Kent Mollohan, Helena, MT

I'm concerned the corporations are buying America. This has to stop. Corporations are not people!

—David Conlon, Carrollton, VA

Quit selling out our country. We're all learning to cut back, you can also. Do so without prostituting our values.

—Mark and Judy Harvey, Great Bend, PA

Get the money out of politics, stop buying politicians.

—Janice Barnes, Jacksonville, FL

We would like to know who is trying to buy our "elected" officials.

—Nick Wheeler, Norfolk, VA

"An informed electorate is a sin qua non of a democracy." Transparency of campaign advertisement financing is a necessary way to patriotically dull the impact of the unfortunate "Citizens United" decision.

—David Busey, Manheim, PA

Because corporations are not born, don't die and never pay taxes!!!!

—Maureen Kavanagh, Woodside, NY

It adds corruption to a corrupt system. Visibility is essential to a democracy.

—Frank Sronce, Lynnwood, WA

As newscasters, your responsibility must always be to keep the public well-informed about important issues.

—Roberto Aburto, Santee, CA

I urge you to make accurate and complete reportage your top priority, including origins and sources of revenue.

Thank you.

—Suzanne James, St. Helena, CA

Clearly state the platform and the facts

—Patricia Pynchon, New York, NY

And be sure to disclose how much money you're taking in for political advertisements. Better yet, don't take more in ad revenue for one candidate or issue over another. Some moral values in this regard would do a lot to save our endangered and precious democracy.

—Patty Clary, Hoopa, CA

We the people deserve to know who is putting up the money for political ads, and how much.

—Dave Elder, Highland Park, NJ

Out of control partisan campaign contributions are a threat to our democratic system of government.

The country is being stolen by secret money!

—Mary F. Warren, Wheaton, IL

STOP buying America for your own benefit! If you care about this country - Spend your billions to build our country up for all - which will benefit you as well.

—Mary Linden, Robbinsdale, MN, MN

If you want your rights as a free press protected in the future, you have to stand with the citizens of America now and tell us who the big money is behind the misleading ads.

—Helen Fritzel, Annandale, VA

Sincerely, Marilyn Folden

—Marilyn Folden, Albuquerque, NM

Your complicit behavior is stealing my democracy. Stand up to the greed and money. Report the funders and share the truth.

—Margo Campbell, Issaquah, WA

Wouldn't your hands feel cleaner if you designated the funders of political advertising?

—Sherron Collins, Spring Lake, MI

We want the FCC to establish policies that prohibit the corrupt and deceptive behaviors of broadcasters!!!

—Carlos Planas Jr., Detroit, MI

It's up to you to work toward restoring any sense of legitimacy, relevance and professionalism to "broadcast journalism"

—Julie McCarthy, Westminster, CO

I thought broadcasters were to find the truth and tell the American people about it. Looks like the money got to you. Now you be come worthless!

—Russell Utoft, Richfield, MN

Start doing what you were meant to do, and present the truth and the facts.

—Patricia Chang, Indianapolis, IN

Democracy is NOT served by an influx of misinformation or disinformation by unnamed parties, PACS, SuperPACS. Please identify who is paying for political ads.

—Mary Ellen Ruesch, LODI, WI

When I was young, the TV news was serious, and there was a clear division between what was being reported as fact and editorial opinion. Now the news is mostly fluff, there isn't much objective reporting, and opinion is presented as if it were the truth.

—James R Hawken, Portland, OR

Enough is enough! Just be honest with the common people!

—Daniel Stinson, Helena, MT

Stop being a propaganda machine for the corporations! But they own you!! So we are screwed!! Hope we can get some real news from foreign countries papers.

—Fred Boesl, Eden, NY

Your broadcast license is granted because you claim to serve the people. Therefore, report facts, not opinions!
—Eric b, st louis, MO

Yo are so sick with greed you are willing to sacrifice our democracy....
—Arlene Zide, Chicago, IL

It is high time to return our government to the people, and stop the Corp. Government and its supporters from "buying the Presidential candidates."
—Iris A. Moore, Yelm, WA

Dear Ms. Clemence & Leaders of IV Power "Free Press": History will thankful your noble, immense Democratic support. I think, that you as authentic AMERICANS, Well should teach, promote, create a Identity's conscience between, "WE the People" who will join at your voice (s), talent, investigation, all at One must support you. Thanks F.Press will return the Honor, Liberty to America. Impossible! in secret no more our country "in sale", looking for a manager as CEO but, Not president. Stop please atual -culture of pocket- (term is mine). It will be worst, serial GOP assays by 3 government branches, focus to naive voters those there are not theirs $$profit partners. Sadly, we living continuation new style in XXI Century = modern slavery. New Impositions on -god-money- or globalization system, it's cause of America and Worldwide, suffered high coverage of people on fatal misery's globalization. Faith in "Free Press" as IV power, with "We the People" are hope. GO Thanks forever. Stand! Alicia Margarita
—Alicia R.Yepes, Washington DC, DC

You are members of the only private industry mentioned in the US Constitution. You occupy a privileged place in the functioning of our democratic republic. That brings with it certain duties and responsibilities. Lately, your members have almost completely failed to fulfill those duties and responsibilities, preferring to discuss funding, promote conflict and probe for scandal instead of reporting on and analyzing positions and claims of candidates. Instead of informing your fellow citizens, you have sought only to line your pockets with revenue from campaign advertising no matter how dishonest and slanderous. Do the job of informing your viewers that your licenses required of you. Inform us of the accuracy of candidates' claims. Tell us what their proposals will actually do and not do. Your job is not supposed to be that of a passive stenographer and propaganda organ. Do your job or surrender your licenses.
—Norm Conrad, Seattle, WA

tell the truth
—Laura Lee Zank, Granton, WI

We're relying on you. Don't let us down. Tell both sides and don't hesitate to show which one is wrong.
—John Thomas, Victorville, CA

The FCC set basic requirments into your charters, why dont you read them, & try to live up to them.
—Jerry K F Chilson, Enumclaw, WA

I am boycotting broadcast television, I refuse to be lied to 24 hours a day for Corporate TV's profits, and I WILL NOT let them tell me who to vote for. This is baloney. Get yourselves some real news or you will lose ALL of your viewers.
—Judith Petty, Chelsea, MI

How long do you think it will be before everyone figures out who you really represent, and turns you off because of it?
—Ed Harker, Santa Monica, CA

Alas, because of the Supreme Court decision, one of the last lines of defense to get to the truth of how all this money gets spent falls upon you...however unfair it might seem. Still, this bonanza of advertising money requires you to be especially scrupulous if you want to remain relevant to the viewers whom you wish to retain.

—Jeffrey Grady, Pacific Palisades, CA

Journalists have become mouth pieces for money. Citizens United has magnified this exponentially.

—Ryan R. Riddle, Mount Vernon, KY

Who needs this crap?

—Kevin Duggan, North Fort Myers, FL

Where are "the people" in all this?

—Karen Freed, Colorado Springs, CO

Real people serve on juries, donate blood at times of disaster, volunteer on public school boards, and serve in the armed services. RESTORE the power of the single vote to all real people and silence corporations.

—Anne M. McCabe, LaGrangeville, NY

The ramifications of the Citizens United decision by the Supreme Court, as well as the decision itself, disgust me. They are destructive of our democracy.

—Pamela Walker, San Francisco, CA

If the Supreme Court has given big money the right to buy an election we should at least have the right to know who is buying it.

—James DiRenzo, Flanders, NJ

The media is in the business of making money - reporting news is secondary. Welcome to America!

—Cheri Pierson, pompano beach, FL

The for-profit media companies are operating a very lucrative double-racket of eviscerating the actual journalistic content of their political coverage, while expanding their offering of political advertising. These ads, in turn, thrive in the absence of objective factual coverage that is lacking in the remaining broadcast time. The broadcasters have become mere cooperative apparatuses for political advertisers, rather than legitimate media organizations that derive revenue from advertising.

—Jim Steitz, Gatlinburg, TN

It is vital that voters know who is buying air time and what kind of money they're spending. Also, that the broadcasters aren't pouring money in that they know they will get back.

—Cynthia H Dye, E. Boston, MA

It's a shame that our democracy has been sold out to the highest bidder!

—Frank K Arapp, Akron, OH

Return the public airwaves to the public or the public will take on broadcasters!

—John Catherine, New York, NY

Broadcasters who use the public broadcast spectrum have an unequivocal responsibility to use those public airways in the public interest. Even cable outlets should feel some measure of responsibility for serving the public good in the name of good corporate citizenship. Please make sure that the public stays well informed about all of the issues that concern them. In this election season, the impact of big (BIG) money in politics is something that is vitally important. It must be reported. Anything less than comprehensive reporting is unacceptable.

—Jonathan Moretz, Norfolk, VA

Kathleen Gorman
—Kathleen Gorman, st.louis, MO

We are sick of the lies! Stop manipulating outcomes or go set up shop in Iran or China!
—Lisa Feehely, Edgewater, MD

P.S. When you received your broadcast licenses by the FCC, it was on the understanding that you would serve the public interest. Now all I see are mere conduits for syndicated programming with next to zero effort whatsoever. We deserve better.
—Joseph Kristoff, Montgomery Village, MD

I have a right to know and you have an obligation to be transparent.
—7226 Forrester Lane, Indianapolis, IN

Follow the money! Keep us informed! Especially about the deep pockets! Otherwise, you are useless . . .
—Molly Noland, Penrose, CO

That means providing real information on the deep-pocketed interests behind this money, and investing profits into comprehensive election coverage.
—Edith Borie, Karlsruhe, Germany, NY

There needs to be full disclosure at the bottom of ads, should you run them, of not only an organization's "financial" pac status, but the name of the organization and exactly the person who paid. Full disclosure.
—Sandra Myers, Sharon, MA

Get out of bed with the shady characters.
—Richard A. Horwege, Norfolk, VA

The American public needs the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. This is a democracy not fascism, communism, or a dictatorship.
—Robert Moeller, Glens Falls, NY

Use your new money to reduce the barrage of commercials. Let's see more about both sides of the issues.

You have a conflict of interest in this matter. Can you self regulate? Or not?
—Maribeth Milner, Lincoln, NE

The not so "Supreme" court has damaged this country more than anything else that I can think of.
—Patsy Lowe, Palm Springs, CA

Drivel and propaganda. That's what local news on politics has become. We want to be informed. We want more true facts about issues and less spin and lies.

—Geoffrey Dutton, Belmont, MA

For a better government!

—Michael R. Ernst, Highland Park, IL

Want the favor of the people or their enmity?

—Barrett W. Belveal, Westport, WA

Stop making this the worst country money can buy.

—Philip Parratt, Oakhurst, NJ

Political advertising often not only disseminates misleading information, but unfortunately, people actually believe it. This believing takes roots from the trust that people have in a broadcast media's own news services. Ultimately this can also lead to a distrust in media in general. Viewer's need to have better access to information on the source of this information so that they can understand why an announcement claiming that some particular information may be significant. Political advertising is not there to sell snack food, or fantasy games. It involves the election of people that can change the destiny of the people that are watching the advertising. It should therefore, as it claims often misleading data, contain references as to who is paying for these claims to be broadcast. Please protect your viewers by reviewing these announcements for content on your own news programs and presenting the sources of funding.

—Daniel Gibfried, Kansas City, MO

This is disgusting and NOT telling the story is even more disgusting. Do you really think that the people will STAY ignorant on this issue. Do the right thing and fight to get rid of campaign financing. Approximately 3 billion in political ad money is un-American.

—John Vandyk, West Tisbury, MA

We need enough "real" election coverage to offset the propaganda of the political ads.

—Robert Michael Renshaw Jr., ROMULUS, MI

Television Boycott anyone?

—Matthew Palmer, bay city, WI

Just as political parties are required to inform the reader/viewer/auditor who has paid for the political ads they place, the Super PACs should be required to do the same. All parts of the political process should have the same standards for transparency. And the broadcasters should offer time for more substantive types of advertising and newsreporting that would inform the voters about the issues, and not just the trash-talking of many of the ads. We can do better!!! And should!!

These are the public airways. Give the U.S. public the information they need.

—Jean Hoegler, Villa Park, IL

The airwaves belong to all and they are being abused by corporate America.

—Geraldine S. Jay, Menasha, WI

And wouldn't it be nice if obvious deceptive statements were removed or at least identified and called out for their falsehoods?

—Camille Ellis-Vickers, New Orleans, LA

It is outrageous that the Supreme Court allowed massive PAC money to be injected into political campaigns. The least the press can do is investigate, and make all the facts known to the American public. Only an informed public CAN make informed decisions about candidates and issues. Please investigate the sources of funds for the various super PACS..

—Steve Hopkins, new rochelle, NY

I grew up with a "free press" that kept us informed of corruptions and worked hard to defend democracy. It's time that broadcasters did that job again and stop "disInformation".

—Benn Henry, Bellevue, WA

Both the Republican and Democrat parties are going in the wrong direction. To SAVE the US entrepreneurial ranking, credit rating, stock market, the $, Medicare, Social Security, Medicaid and the police, fire, k-12 public school, library, military, defense and homeland security budgets while CUTTING government spending, debt and present tax rates without causing inflation or high interest rates; both State and Federal parties would be winners if they would compromise with the following strategies: Create good paying American jobs with good benefits for American citizens by repealing all sales taxes & replace the lost revenue with an import tax/tariff on imported labor (India) & manufactured goods (Mexico and Communist China, North Korea & Vietnam). Increase the federal income tax deduction from $5700 (2010) to $15000 for American citizens. Increase the IN state income tax exemption for non-dependent adults from $1000 to $5000, up to $15,000; depending on disabilities and age. All standard deductions and exemptions should be adjusted for inflation. Collect an export tax on natural resources/commodities such as coal, oil, natural gas & grains. Repeal all wealthy individual, business and new development/construction tax incentives such as tax abatement, tax increment financing, grants, deductions, credits, tax free bonds, earmarks, loopholes and other corporate welfare that are shifting business costs and taxes to other taxpayers, exporting American jobs or creating poverty wage American jobs. OR, require these corporate welfare kings to pay a living wage, minimum wage of $15/hour with good benefits; adjusted for inflation. Collect mandatory impact fees (IN code: 36-7-4-1300, only infrastructure today); but, expand the code to collect impact fees for schools, libraries, parks, police and fire. Search for Brent Pittman Brownsburg, IN at flyergroup.com, LinkedIn.com and google.com for more information and details.

—Brent Pittman, Brownsburg, IN

Democracy needs transparency and we as American citizens need to know who is sponsoring the flood of negative political ads fillin our airwaves.

—Carole Plourde, Amesbury, MA

A society built on greed, as our has become, cannot long survive the illusion of democracy. If the broadcasting industry has any interest in preserving the tenets on which our country was founded, then it must strive to expose the corruption which has taken hold of our political system.

—Irving Lillien, Cutler Bay, FL

Or just ignore the true needs of the poor, and before you know it throngs of starving people will have no choice but to ban together to destroy rich people.

—Ronz Switzer, Denton, TX

Is this what the Union has devolved to? Change you stance now.

—Michael Hundt, San Jose, CA

Give us only TRUE FACTS not analysis it tells me nothing and don't hype all the negative ads. They are revolting and do not truly represent the character of many American citizens.

—full name*Barbara Horne, Boonsboro, MD

I want the news the way it used to be before their corporate owners got involved in politics for their own gain.

—Janet Zaso, Culpeper, VA

I'm so-o-o sick of infotainment! How stupid do you think we are?!?

—Celia Bush, Placentia, CA

Do not let your corporate bosses stop you.

—Kaye Fissinger, Longmont, CO

The airwaves belong to the People. Broadcasters use the airwaves at our discretion. We must be advised of who is buying access.

—Mary Whitmore, Lynnwood, WA

We need major campaign finance reform - it's frustrating seeing the misinformation on all sides, the insults, and the drama. It's time to place REAL limits on campaign contributions - and at the VERY least, all donations need to be disclosed on each candidates' websites so we know who they get their support from.

—Jeff Loiland, Tacoma, WA

Techniques such as giving equal exposure to facts and falsehoods without making it clear which is which is meant to confuse the viewer rather than inform her. Instead of omitting information which would clarify on air content - such as a reference to a government document -and substituting a comment from an adversary's denial of the facts confuses the viewer. These techniques may keep the local station in good graces with the wealthy individual whose Super PAC ads blanket the airwaves, but they are an obstacle to the electorate.

—Pamela Fulmer, Sacramento, CA

Pointing out the contradictions and inconsistencies must be part of the reporting.

—Vic Burton, Kansas City, MO

I've had enuf of media BS and failure to tell the WHOLE news story--no more convenient bytes. We deserve the TRUTH on the People's Airwaves.

—Kristen Zehner, Marshall, WI

Democracy on clearance sale.

—Evangelos Karnavas, ORLAND PARK, IL

I would add that most people don't understand that the airwaves are in the same hands as the political system, whereas both should be in the hands of the citizens. Broadcasters shouldn't be making ANYTHING off of political campaigns, because political campaigns shouldn't be costing ANYTHING. Broadcasters owe their lives and fortunes to a public commons and should be grateful and willing to give back by providing an environment and vehicle for balance political messaging that informs rather than propagandizes the public.

—Jeannine Anderson, Olympia, WA

Help save our democracy!

—Robert G Hilgenberg, Everett, WA

Since you are profittering from these PACs then you are OBLIGATED to have real investigative reporters broadcast the TRUTH. If you corporate broadcasters persist in 'reporting' entertainment as 'news' then perhaps your license to broadcast on the PUBLICS' frequencies should be revoked.

—Jerry Matsui, Seattle, WA

By not reporting the facts, you are participating in spreading lies and misrepresentations.

Why do we have to PAY for government? GET MONEY OUT OF POLITICS!

—Rachel Wickart, Normal, IL

This barrage of anonyous ads is a total disservice to democracy, as is the continuing failure of American media companies to explore it for a public that needs to understand what is happening. Stand up! Do your duty as the "fourth estate." History will judge you harshly if you stand by and do nothing for our civil society.

—Kirk Leonard, Salem, OR

Seriously?! That much money on Our next election for President?! This isn't a free country! It's a Bought Election! Stop this NOW!

—RM Carreon, Burbank, CA

Big Business has been buying our elected officials for far too long in the USA. I am sick and tired of the mainstream media's cowardly assent to anything these super PACs want to do. The lies in these ads are deceptive and full of malice and this is NOT what our elective process should be. Please see to it that even though the temptation is great to run some of this swill your broadcast outlets use some integrity and refuse to be bought by big money.

—Kira Pitre, Spokane, WA

Citizens United MUST be repealed by Constitutional Amendment ! Until we get big money OUT of politics, the American people will not control the election process.

—Anne & Mike Botwin, Bellingham, WA

hey broadcasters: Don't let cruelty, greed, superstition, and fear (of progressives) rule our country.

—Richard Conn, Fort Collins, CO

We are SICK of the far right wing neocon ultra rich always having most of the political power and think they have way too much clout already. They and their cronies in the big corporations already have too much influence. They are not "the People." The "Citizens United decision" should be overturned as soon as possible and broadcasters should inform the REAL People of the USA about who is paying for big political ads and how much is being spent!

—Dr. Ron Paulette and Tatum, ALOHA, OR

I may watch and trust your programming when you prove you're different than Fox Lies!

—Don Shedd, Roland, IA

Ask yourself, who bought your vote this year?

—sanderosn Hill, Ukiah, CA

As a journalist and former editor, i urge you to please report the news. In a time for declining respect for the news media in the U.S., you would gain so much respect for doing real reporting.

—Paul Grohse, Atlanta, GA

While, as Americans, we have the freedom to choose which station we watch, the broadcasters of news information have a duty and responsibility to present ALL of the news, not just that with which the management agrees. Political ads need to be clearly identified as to the party or parties who are funding the ad. Anything less is simply dishonest and tv stations should be held accountable when they fail to provide this information.

—Lori D. Haage, Montclair, CA

We, the people, are sick to death of politics and corporations. We need the information you can provide to help us fight them. Please do not abandon us or give in to money. Thank you.

—Jessica Scott, Erie, CO

You owe it to us to give us some real unbiased serious news

—Gerda Duffy, Princeton Junction, NJ

We need to elect the BEST candidate, not the most "well funded" friend of the wealthy. That is a perversion of democracy. We need journalism to be honest and informative. Without that, democracy is lost. Please, do the right thing.

—Mrs. Vicki Bange, Binghamton, NY

We the people need to know who is sponsoring and paying for attack ads on TV. Secrecy has no place in campaign financing.

—Rich Lowry, San Francisco, CA

We want the truth about the money and we want to hear it from your lips, so step up to the plate.

Do we live in a democracy or a mafiacracy?

—Christopher Loch, Minneapolis, MN

The public has the right to know who is funding these political ads. We need transparency in election financing and this is a big part of it. I urge you to take positive action.

—Tom Bauld, Milan, MI

THE PROPAGANDA MACHINES NEED TO BE REPLACED WITH RESPONSIBLE JOURNALISM! THE PUBLIC NEEDS TO BE INFORMED IN A NON-BIASED MANNOR!

—Don A. McKenzie, Cincinnati, OH

Greed, greed, greed, where will it end? I worked in radio when we had to give air time to each political figure and they only got so much. That was when there were still free elections. Americans deserve to have a Presidential election based on the true leanings of a candidate, not by super pacs who lie and cheat to steal votes for their own gain. And the National Association of Broadcasters rides the coat tails of this greed with much zeal. We're watching and things are going to change. Do the right thing and let Americans know the truth in news. That's why the news media was started in the first place. I am ashamed to say broadcasting and media is now just a mouthpiece for lobbyists and corporate America. It is sad what you have helped America to become. I now volunteer and listen only to public radio where I can find the only truth in media. Sincerely, Melody Brinkley Lyons, CO

—Melody Brinkley, Lyons, CO

Would appreciate more news/coverage about Voter ID

—Doreen Stratton, Doylestown, PA

You have a duty to shine a light on attempts to buy politicians and influence elections. Do it!!

—Rodney A Hill, Auburn, CA

don't you think that the people of this country deserve to vote based on the merits of the candidates, not the canned one sentence explanations that we are getting from the news commentators on all of the major networks. the people of this country should demand that all of the facts be layed out for the electorate, not just sound bites that say nothing about one of the most important parts of our democracy, the vote by the people for our elected government.
glenn e brawer

—Glenn e Brawer, rio rancho, NM

Never in my 70 years of life have I heard such propaganda being broadcast over our airwaves! Our founding fathers must be rolling over in their graves at such dishonesty in advertising. WHERE are our countrymen of honor?

—Sherry Shortt, Helen, GA

A true democracy is dependent in truthful and complete information from all sides of an issue.

—Joan Forest, Cornville, AZ

Just because the Supreme Court blew it on this issue, that does not give you the right to play coy and sneaky.

I want to know who is buying elections before casting my vote.

—Ryan O'Keefe, Lynnwood, WA

Let us follow the money also! Bill Best

—Bill Best, Berea, KY

Within the past few years I have noticed the failure of broadcasters and their now obvious failure to keep the public informed. The consequences are: I have become an infrequent viewer of televised news. I will continue this behavior until the broadcasters change their under-handed manner of broadcasting.

—Jan Halgren, Sarasota, FL

We need you to shine the light!

—Donna Shawver, Carolina Beach, NC

For our democracy to work transparency is essential and this is an important area.

—Lewis Richardson, Middletown, CA

I thank you in advance for your time and consideration.

—Allan Fix, Albany, CA

I am taking action on my own against the buying and selling of democracy in the USA. I watch very little corporate owned TV nor do I expose myself to any so called ads which are basically political diatribes full of half truths, lies and just plain bull shit. I wish I could expect corporatized tv to inform their viewing public about which individuals or groups are responsible for the millions spent on these atrocious pieces of propaganda, but I will not be holding my breath.

—Carol Scherpenisse, Spring Lake, MI

WE have a right to know. They should do more public service ads too.

—E Amba Caldwell, Santa Fe, NM

If you choose to ignore this challenge, your country, your family, your future family, and your friends will be impacted by Your personal lack of concern and responsibilty for maintaining the democracy that benefits all persons in our country. In my view, Your Choice to ignore this request is a vote for continuing the current destruction of our society.

—Rodolfo Franco, Seattle, WA

Corporations are NOT people.

—Bill Nierstedt, garwood, NJ

It's not clear which is worse, how little information can be gleaned from the broadcasts or the nonstop barrage of misleading political ads. A little clue on the latter is that I have confined myself to watching public television and the few cable stations that don't seem to draw political ads. And guess what? By the time the political season draws to a close, I have forgotten about the other stations. By its willingness to self ads infinitum, network TV is slitting it's own throat.

—Ann M. Black, Cincinnati, OH

Too many people and organizations are putting a price tag on their integrity. Please remember what the news was about, informing people of what's happening, what's new.

—Daniel Duncan, Salt Lake City, UT

We're not turning to Internet sites for news because they're ad-free. They aren't. we're turning _away_ from your incestuous relationship with your advertisers. Want us back? disclose - or lose.

—Honour Horne-Jaruk, Wilton, NH

Broadcasters, WE, THE PEOPLE, are your CLIENTS. We can choose not to watch your program and THEN how will your ratings be. BRING US THE TRUTH AND WE WILL SUPPORT YOU and ignore the ones who broadcast the lies. .

—Mary Grace, Wales, MA

Can not stand that $$ persuades the ignorance of Americans and these ads are misleading to the masses and an injustice of our rights as citizens, Corporations are not individuals , they are entities!

—Diana Miller, Bonifay, FL

I agree! Fairness demands that broadcasters spend more time covering the candidates in greater depth. With the amount of money they are making, they owe this to the public. Let us see this take place now!

—Anne Baird, Duxbury, MA

I would like for these campaign donations be made public. If they are trying to buy our government, each and every American should have the right to know where that money comes from. I'm EXTREMELY tired of mud slinging campaigns, where only partial facts are given, or what is said is a blatant outright lie. I would like to see an above board, honest, campaign. Give each and every American all of the information they need to make an informed decision. I would like to see disclosure of lobbyist money - which politicians took it and how they voted since they took it. I think this kind of transparency would greatly improve our politicians integrity, since every vote they made would be public knowledge. Sincerely, Lee Orange

I am sick of the wealthy Koch Brothers and the Chamber of Commerce spending millions on the crazy tea party candidates. We need election reform. Until then it is the media's duty to let viewers and listeners know who is paying for all the political advertisement.

—Crystal Hughes, Dallas, TX

Become democratic and broadcast all news in non partisan manner. Stop being sycophants to greedy power monger corps.

—Judith Nappe, N. Bonneville, WA

Are you really as unpatriotic as you seem? Is satisfying your greed really more important to you than American voters knowing the facts surrounding the issues before they go to the polls?

—Caroline Armitage, Los Altos, CA

It is important that there be coverage of the messages and "targets" of the Super PACs ads.

—Brenda Jean Forster, Elmhurst, IL

Use some of that money to HIRE Good Investigative Reporters to present FACTS.

—Barbara Murphy, Clifton Park, NY

Political misinformation should not be tolerated by the broadcasters and should be pointed out by other broadcasters in the same market,

—Tom Hellebrandt, Phoenix, AZ

I'm aware that "perfectly unbiased reporting" is an unattainable ideal, but it is reasonable to expect news organizations to give people the information they need to decide what bias to expect.

—Benjamin Sibelman, Redmond, WA

As long as money rules our elections, money will make the decisions about our country. That is NOT a democracy.

—David Wynn, Media, PA

Make you own voices heard during the next nine months!

—Peter Tasker, Lexington, MA

As perveyors of public information, you must tell the public who is paying to broadcast the information and have some responsibility for the truthfulness of the information coming from your station... If this does not happen, you should not have a broadcast liscense...

—Gerald & Mary Lou DeVane, Palm Coast, FL

If you are getting millions more in revenue we deserve to know who is paying for the ads and if you are making they much more, we also need better reporting, not just repeating one liners!!!!Your investigative reporting is terrible.

—Beverly Harmon, Springfield, MO

Democracy is fast disappearing as it is overwhelmed by political and corporate money and corruption. I am scared.

Ash where you can protest there license renewal. they are licensed to serve he public interest. complain to FCC they are not doing so !

—William H.Karr, Southfield, MI

Got journalism ethics?

—Dennis Howerton, Maricopa, AZ

So far they have spent far far too much money in this election cycle and it will get worse. Consumers, Voters have a right to know who is trying to buy the elections so we can expose their hidden agendas for ourselves; god knows the news media will not tell us they are on the take from their media outlets advertising revenues!

—Paul Horne, Indianapolis, IN

Broadcasters don't care about our future, they only care about their bottom line. I say we pull all their licenses and force them to cover the issues.

—Jeff Shrewsbury, Durham, NC

I think that for the privilage of giving them a license they should be required to give free time on the air to the canadates. That should be the only time the canadates can have air and TV they can have. That would solve a lot of problems.

—Kay Blevins, Raleigh, NC

Remember, "Comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable"? That was a good idea.

As I watch what is happening, I become increasingly concerned about the lies that now pass as news. This must stop!

—Alix Ingber, Sweet Briar, VA

Do your job! You owe it to the American public and your local viewers to provide thorough non-biased reporting of political issues. Thank you, remember, undemocratic societies gag journalists. Where will your windfall profits from political ads get you then? Inform the people and save democracy.

—Nancy Shaw, Templeton, CA

—Stuart Fischhoff, Carbondale, IL

Journalism is the only profession that enjoys special protections under the US Constitution. Those protections come in exchange for service to the nation, the obligation to educate and inform citizens. Most of what passes for "reporting" on the 2012 presidential race makes a mockery of this professional obligation. Get serious and start reporting news, not fluff and horse races.

The Citizens United ruling that has made this windfall of profits available to you in the broadcast business proves how effective legislation is at "redistributing wealth." We the citizens simply implore you to behave as true keepers of the Democratic press and use the money for transparent coverage that serves the entire country.

—Gloria McLean, New York, NY

I'm not so sure that Thomas Jefferson would hold the press in the high esteem he did if he were living today. We the public are not well informed by a press which does virtually no investigation and precious little reporting.

—Helene Brazier, Bonsall, CA

Viewers hate negative ads. You have to air them by law, but you should honestly investigate whether the ads are truthful and report on the results

—Wells Eddleman, Durham, NC

Stop the covert work of Super Pacs

—Elizabeth Danel, Belvedere, CA

Running a radio or TV station isn't just about putting commercials on the air. It's more about who's being honest enough to identify just where that ad money is coming from.

—Robert Silverberg, centerville, MA

Tell us before every ad who is behind the Super Pac and how much they paid for this. Fact check the ads and do not run ads that are misleading or untrue. What the rich people behind "Swift Boat" did to John Kerry's campaign should not be allowed to happen again. We can not allow our soldier's records of honor to be smeared. We cannot allow honest good work to be misrepresented.

—Kelly McCormick, Atlanta, GA

At this point your news and therefore ads are not worth watching. I try every couple of weeks, but give up because of the poor quality news. Therefore NPR it is, but I could watch between 5 pm and 6pm but don't bother.

—Janet Loehr, Mukilteo, WA

Remember how Citizens United is coming and biting the back of the Rethug-li-con primary? If you do not tell the truth on money in politics, rest assured this Frankenstein will come back to haunt you. Romney got 30 mil from just 200 donors - WHO ARE THESE 200 PEOPLE & WHAT DO THEY WANT FROM ROMNEY?

—Zia Islam, Winnetka, CA

Transparency! Culpability! Responsible Journalism! Power to the People!

—Joe Crowther, Greenville, SC

I have long thought that the major broadcasters are the real reason we do not have campaign finance reform. They should act responsibly or they will find that citizens will try to enact laws that take away their golden goose.

—Mary Robertson, Shelburne Falls, MA

This level of advertisements lacking a sense of real information is too much. Please disclose those who buy them, so that we may understand the ad's reasoning!

—Raphael Alexandrian, Madison, WI

It is outrageous the amount of money that is spent on our campaigns. We must overturn the Supreme Court decision to protect all of our freedoms, especially freedom of the press. 21st century broadcasters MUST be held accountable!

—Connie Anderson, Frisco, CO

We have all the corruption we need in this society, let us try being honest and less greedy.

—Virginia Lippert, Colorado Springs, CO

Keep the big money out of politics

—Douglas Carlson, Seattle, WA

Just heard President Jimmy Carter speak. In responding to a question about elections in the US, Carter said that the US did not meet the Carter Center's guidelines for free and fair elections. The presence of too much money clouding real issue and the lack of common standards were two areas that President Carter cited as concerns. The Carter Center has monitored elections in 87 countries - who do follow their suggested guidelines. We need to do more to invest in real information, diverse views, and to get money out of politics - particularly funds that are not disclosed.

—Karen Perry, Florence, WA

Broadcasters' duty is to inform the public of all of the news, including the anti-democratic political and financial actions of your corporate owners and advertisers, Otherwise, your newscasts are simply entertainment and propaganda.

It is vital to know who is getting the payoff from our trusted legislators, in favored legislation, for the hefty contributions being made to their campaigns. The legality of such presently blind support is certainly questionable and should be questioned. The Supreme Court decision enabling such activity is questionable and should be withdrawn before private money is the primary driving force in all future legislation

As Chairman serving the NORTHERN (CALIFORNIA) HISPANIC LATINO COALITION - and as a single father of two school-age TV/Radio-happy daughters, on behalf of our voting constituency, I am urging that CAPITALIZING on political-polarization not impact the knowledge, health and care of our citizens in deference to profits & prestige. I still control the TV/Radio buttons. Our great nation was based upon constitutionally supported due processes and balance. The networks and media have served the under-served Latino communities very well, for many years and they have an opportunity to maintain balanced viewership from MANY in our constituency, including many Nielsen (et al)-homes. Philosophically and culturally speaking, we Latinos teach and model to our children, there is NEVER a "Right-way" to do a wrong thing. And we do not forget those who do the right things. We are asked or mandated to DISCLOSE many things quite often: We respectfully ask that you, too, disclose... We are watching... and hopeful you will do the right thing. Respectfully submitted, Alan Ernesto Phillips Chairman NORTHERN HISPANIC LATINO COALITION P.O. Box 990875 Redding, CA 96099

—Alan Ernesto Phillips, Redding, CA

In free speech by real people, we know who is speaking. In free speech by money, ads, and PR, we DON'T know who is speaking. Are you doing your best to CLEAR this up? Or are lending your air waves to the obfuscation of WHO is speaking. Maybe we have to change the law to make you more of a responsible caretaker of our air waves against fraud and confusion.

—Mr. Larry Wilson, San Carlos, CA

STOP CITIZENS UNITED Corruption!!

I want to know who is funding all of the attack ads on TV. PAC should not be allowed to secretly fund distortions of truth and slime.

—Edwin E. Powell, Woodbridg, VA

Please give readers solid, newsworthy coverage---like the old days---with your windfall profits. For instance, who is giving their money to the Super PACs?

—Bonnieclare Erling, Seattle, WA

I and I think all voters, would want deeper, more comprehensive coverage of all election events and speeches. If you are being supplied money by Super PACs, then it should be for public good, and not private vice - you could create jobs to get more extensive coverage of campaigns and speeches, not worry about your super PAC salary. Help us be a democracy. Currently, we're not.

—Caleb Hayes, Murfreesboro, TN

You have a job. Please do it. I'm not interested in viewing garbage.

—David Parsons, Albuquerque, NM

You owe this to the American people!

—Kathe Stander, Yachats, OR

Remember, you're using "our" airwaves!

—Bruce Elsensohn, new orleans, LA

Broadcasters do not own the airwaves - they belong to the citizens of the U.S. and you are placed in trust to accurately communicate information to the public. You need to disclose the amounts and whose behind the money so that people know what is going on. I know it's profitable to your bottom line but your delivery of accurate and informative information is necessary. There also needs to be a better job at follow-up questions - I can't tell you how often I am really annoyed when a candidate refuses to answer a question by answering another question and he is never brought back to answer the original question. Just because they don't want to answer a question, doesn't mean they don't have to answer a question. Become journalist again and not puppets of the corporations that "broadcast news". Make us proud of journalists again - reporters who beat the pavement and tell the stories that are often hard to tell but necessary for the American public to hear and know about. Be all that you can be - be a beacon of truth. Diane Snow

—Diane Snow, Laurel, MD

So, when did it become a national imperative to purchase our electoral process? When did the idea that corporations equal people get such regard? Why are they buying our government which was set up to be "for the people {and} by the people"? It is time to alter the course of the monies in politics and stop the insanity.

—Forrest Straley, Yuma, AZ

When money speaks - the truth is silent. We will not be silent and we will take action. I expect you to take support the American Public and not the greed. I don't think it is too much to ask.

As broadcasters and journalists you have a moral obligation to help protect our democracy for us and our children.

—Anita Williams, Arakdelphia, AR

We want fact based news reports not entertainment or slanted paid-for editorials that pass for news. We want truth in political advertising, we want it to be disclosed up front, and we want to know who benefits from Super-Pacs, both candidates and the media. We want the "business as usual" profit for political PACS and the media to end now.

—Frank Skillman, san francisco, CA

Help voters make wise decisions by disclosing what individuals and what corporations are pouring money into which candidates. Obviously individuals and corporations pouring money to a candidate have the most to gain if their candidate wins with their money. The scary part is, what do they win with power over the President?

—Dr. Kent Schneider, gainesville, GA

It is disgusting and shameful that this amount of $ is pspent to win political favor especially when education and health care is failing in America.

—Dr. Susan B Draper, Brooklyn, NY

STOP selling out America!

—Don Leichtling, San Diego, CA

Tell me this isn't highway robbery.... Bandits in blindfolds stealing public confidence, lining their pockets with ill gotten gains.....

—Carmen Roundtree, New York, NY

We will chose independant borad casting over commercial if you do not give us back the real news that you used to provide.

—James Shelton, Richmond, VA

I've been voting since 1952 and this one is the most disgusting I've seen. Big money does not equal good ideas and leads to a plutocracy.

—Florence Brodley, Somers, NY

Such scheming cowardice is very detrimental to our democracy and its imputed transparency.

—Mitchell Struble, Philadelphia, PA

I know that Pecunia loquit, stercus ambulat. But at least tell us from whence the thirty pieces of silver are coming!

—Joseph Venable, West Lafayette, IN

Freedom of the Press, a right granted in the United States Constitution, was placed there in order that it could keep the public informed, and not such that media organizations could make money. In other words, it is predicated upon the obligation you have to serve the public interest. The latter not being accepted or met invalidates any media organization's claim to that special "freedom".

—Robert I. Laitres, Delta, CO

Americans are sick of the embarassment that corporate news focused on extreme reactive sensationalism is constantly shown to the entire world! STOP this anti-American behavior as its killing what remains of a decent perspective shown to the world--stop embarassing America and our citizenry now!

—Anna Becker, Hillsboro, OR fed up with both major parties

—Tom Moore, Boulder, CO

It's time you focus on new and minimize entertainment.

—Joe Zinich, asheville, NC

Political ads suck... even worse than the politicians!

—K Siwek, Santa Ana, CA

There is too much corruption now. It is time to clean up your act.

—Luke Asbury, Ventura, CA

Do your job as the 4th estate stop being corporate whores that don't repersent the People. 99%er

—Rob Anderson, Boulder, CO

This is a sad example of how greedy the 1% are in this country since they're willing to sell out for a quick buck.

—Stephanie Crites, Anaheim, CA

Print the TRUTH and nothing but or get out of the business. You're not journalists.

—Cheryl Fontaine, Lake Stevens, WA

Patho-media complicity pays the full price...thank goodness!

—Margaret Ann Bowers, Ithaca, NY

Start thinking in terms of the country instead of your own personal bank accounts, eventually this will turn on you and someone will be held accountable for this deplorable behavior. Do you want that someone to be you?

—Edwin J. McGrath, Albion, PA

How about a little fact checking please! When someone says a policy will or won't create jobs, someone needs to tell the public the truth, otherwise, they will be voting for a lie.

—Linda Olson Pehlke, Brookline, MA

I am not interested in the best government money can buy--for the corporations. I want my vote to count again.

—Michael Lanigan, Clearlake Oaks,, CA

If you do not concur you are complicit with neofeudal forces intent on eviscerating Constitution - and Enlightenment

—Samuel Scharff, Seattle, WA

They should know how ashamed we have been in our broadcasters, and it things continue as they have there will be a price to pay. Even now they should take the blame for the destructive mess big corporations have caused. This election is the most important this country have faced since it began and lying to help the corporations take this democracy down is an act of treason. Don't continue down that road.

—Sharleen Kapp, West Springfield, MA

The economy is failing. Use that $ to help bail us out. Build up the infrastructure. If money is out there it will be spent.

—John Hebisen, Florissant, MO

The public has also lost faith in Main Stream Media as they are obvious biased in their reporting. You have been bought out by big money. There has not even been fair coverage to Ron Paul in the debates or discussions on the Republican candidates, which is glaringly obvious. I am going elsewhere to get accurate reporting and coverage of political and world events.

—Virginia M. Moffett, Hilton, NY

It is broadcasters' sacred duty to report the ACTUAL NEWS--not just slanted and carefully crafted non-news and misinformation. Your country needs your honesty.

—Marian Schwarzenbach, Seattle, WA

I'm really REALLY disgusted with the decision of the Supreme Court and it's STUPID ruling that corporations are people! You and your actions are just making things worse. There's ONLY one Republican on the ballot that's worth a SHIT! Ron Paul... Yet, RARELY do I even see/hear his name mentioned. I feel that this is due to YOUR blackout! I have changed my party of affiliation so I can vote for him! I'll write his name in at election time if NECESSARY! Obama is in the same boat as the other candidates... Not worth a SHIT! It's time for you to stop your obstructionism AND GET TO WORK doing YOUR JOB!

—George R. Goffe, San Jose, CA

This who scene is a disgrace to Democracy for which we send young people to fight and die. Really?

—Leslie Hunter, Eugene, OR

I keep hoping Congress will act on these matters. But with Senators like those representing Utah it is not likely.

—Calvin Hansen, North Ogden, UT

Knowledge is power and we're ready to have the power, come on and step up!

—Robyn Sumners, North Hollywood, CA

The bad that you do will always come back to you, and there is also a little thing called judgment day. Good luck.

—Karen Hartman, Kirkland, WA

So much for fair and balanced news... Don't know how you live with yourselves.

—Kathy Duke, Austin, TX

We demand that you do your job and tell the people what's really going on. This and all elections are far too important to do anything less.

—Carol Lowe, Mesa, AZ

The first network or local stations that do this will look honest and responsible.

—Barbara Rochelle, Atlanta, GA

I am a Veteran and I Vote.

—Russel Brooks, Walla Walla, WA

Are you the 4th estate or just a propaganda outlet of the 1%?

—Lisa Kazmier, Manville, NJ

I understand that your corporation may not appreciate your open broadcasting information, but that is your duty, to tell the truth.

—Lindmuth Fuller, Houston, TX

The way the primaries are being funded is the same path that brought us to the recession. Huge amounts of wasteful spending that contributes nothing to the economy is benefiting the few at the expense of the many. Donor anonymity and increases in pop news does not serve the public, the group that allows you to use the airways.

—Judith Levine, Philadelphia, PA

Woefully, the American people are seriously underinformed because of you, the broadcast media. Your love affair with sensationalism, which sucks up all of the air time to the detriment of real hardnosed journalism has made the typical American voter more concerned with Casey Anthony, Michael Jackson, and the "runaway bride" than they are with the welfare of our Nation. When you do cover political fare we get Anthony's weiner and such. You should be ashamed.

—Geno Heslin, Evergreen, CO

Political finance reform NOW!!!

—Dan Benzschawel, madison, WI

I want my democracy back! Please, do the right thing. Thank you.

—Brad Wiley, Seattle, WA

surely you know that God knows exactly what you are doing to facilitate the overthrow of the U.S. government by the Greediest Of People, and with Judgement Day so near at hand, you would be well-advised to rise in the defense of the US constitution (which stands as the very legal definition of human dignity).

—Tom Woods, Albuquerque, NM

I have learned not to trust anything the media says regarding elections or govenment

—Barbara J Rathbun, laguna beach, CA

It's the RIGHT thing to do!

—Lynn Elliott, Taylorsville, KY

I also don't appreciate the blackout on news concerning the violence instilled upon the Occupiers in Oakland by the Oakland and Alameda police! Apparently animals are treated better than people in this country!

—Michael Shaw, city, CA

I am tired of negativity and political brattiness invading my family's TV time together. we are bombarded with toxic air in the form of bash ads and it seems to only get worse. My kids don't need this nor do I

—nina Kindem, Spokane, WA

What has happened to journalist ethics?

—Marian Shostrom, Orinda, CA

THE CONGRESS MUST REVERSE THIS ABUSES OF THE SUPREME COURT, NOW THE VERY RICH PEOPLE CAN BUY THE ELECTIONS, HOW PENUTS CAN FIGHT MILLIONS OF DOLLARS, THAT IS WHAT THE SUPREME DID OK IT, IF YOU RICH, YOU CAN USE YOUR OWN MONEY, TO BUY ELECTIONS, IS NOT FAIR, IS NOT DEMOCRACY, MUST BE REVERSED, AND NOW BEFORE WE LOSE THE DEMOCRACY, CALL THE CONGRESS AND FORCE THEM, TO REVERSE IT. AND NOW, TODAY.

—Severio Nesich, casselberry, FL

Since the "Citizens United" decision, it is more important than ever that we know who funds the political ads. Don't let the public down - keep us adequately informed.

—V Lee Horner, Roebling, NJ

Don't just line your pockets with the profits made on campaign advertising; use the money to provide intelligent coverage of candidates.

—Gayle Blume, Fullerton, CA

Corporations have never represented my best interests, and with the supreme court decision, this doesn't necessarily mean corporations. Lobbyists are representative of special interests that are hurting the needs and desires of the individual. We do not have the deep pockets of these corporate raiders.

—Kent Stutzman, Newton, KS

Gentlemen, your agreement with the FCC stipulates that your authority to broadcast is contingent upon your operating in the Public Interest. To NOT disclose discoverable information that has tremendous implications with regard to the upcoming election in this democracy you should feel compelled to act in the public interest. In the event that you don't I would feel compelled to start a campaign to have the FCC revoke your operating license.

—John Schneider, Escanaba, MI

Don't let them buy out the press!

—Kerwin L. Schaefer, New Bern, NC

Less ads and more real news coverage - what we need to be informed voters. The public should know who is funding all these ads - because they are the entities who are influencing the voters more than anything the candidates say during television interviews.

—April Lightcap, Concord, GA

If not now, when? ANSWER US.

—Linda Hassler, Forrest City, AR

Democracy is for the people, by the people!

It is the right thing to do.

—Carl Weiler, Ferndale, MI

It's time to stop hiding the TRUTH!

—Thomas Daly, Garden Valley, CA

do the right thing and Disclose donors

—Michael Bayle, Kennewick, WA

We knew the 'Citizens United' decision was flawed, but its effects are much worse than anticipated. In the interest of a functioning democracy, we need broadcasters to step up their contribution to the intelligence of the national dialogue. Thank you.

—Frank Glass, Albany, OR

You may think that you won with the Citizen's United Decision, but even though you try to keep these monetary transactions in the dark, there are more of 'us' than ever who are against corporate wealth ruining our democracy, and we're paying attention and we vote - no matter how much is spent, you don't have the votes that 'the people' have.

—Susan Greb, Vancouver, WA

Hubert J Steed

—Hubert J Steed, New York, NY

Be RESPONSIBLE please. Current NAB members are feeding us the 'news' equivalent of high-fructose-corn-syrup.

—Bill Womack, Charlottesville, VA

The reason this is so important is that the PAC's and SuperPACS are waging an all out war for power in this country; if they win, we all lose, specially the media; what is happening in Venezuela and Ecuador with the media could very well happen here in a few years time.

—Michael Rothstein, Akron, OH

Please, do it for the principle of democracy, if not decency.

—M Goldstein, Plainsboro, NJ

We want FAIR elections. That cannot happen as long as the RICH can buy opinions and spin!

What happened to Real Investigative Journalism? Has greed totally taken it's place? Bring it back and, Do The Right Thing!!

—Robert J. Lockhorn, Vancouver, WA

Choose wisely gentlemen, America is waking up to your gamesmanship.

—Jeffrey Hagerty, Portland, OR

The FCC needs to require Broadcasters to serve the Public or risk losing their licence. You can't trust any large Corporation to do the right thing. You have to Force Corporation to do the right thing.

—Lee Davis, Portland, OR

As a journalist, I know how hard-pressed the industry is these days, and how hard it is to divert reporters and editors onto the time-consuming -- but extremely important -- campaign spending beat. We just can't use that excuse anymore. Our integrity and our essential role in American democracy is at stake here, and we've just got to cover the tsunami of money that's flooding our politics. If we don't, what good are we? Why don't we all just hire on as flacks and let the superPACs do the job for us? And history will judge us harshly -- as it should. L.T. Ellis Delta, AK

—Lawrence T. Ellis, Delta Jct., AK

Stop using our PUBLIC airwaves to make your fortunes by misleading the public - us!!!

—Ariane Goodwin, Millers Falls, MA

The source of opinions voiced on TV and news- papers should always clearly identify the source of their information

—Helen D. McMahan, Portland, OR

We need the news media to use its expertise and resources to find out the things that we can't, like where the money is coming from and how it is being spent.

—Michele Maniscalco, Boston, MA

We are tired of unresponsive broadcasters using our airwaves to dumb us down.

—Cordley Garmany Coit, Simla, CO

Free speech is important but common sense tells us there is something wrong about this situation...

—Ian Colburn, Honolulu, HI

NO news is BAD news

—Willard Goodman, Bethesda, MD

We, the people, could just cut way back on viewing this stuff!!!

—Eva Gabrielle, West Jordan, UT

Voters expect complete accountability for campaign fund sources. We do not expect to see our democracy dismantled by Big Money because you refuse to publicize the actual source.

—Linda Guthrie, Atlanta, GA

Broadcasters should decide whether they are for workers and the voting public, or for these "deep-pocketed" interests behind the money!

—Marliss Rogers, Port Washington, WI

Lowell Hayes

—Lowell Hayes, Valle Crucis, NC

We must have transparency on who is footing the bill for all this advertising.

—Beth Bowling, Pottsboro, TX

All of us need to act to keep American democracy alive. The media has the most important job of keeping the voters informed. Are you willing to step up to the plate and fight the big money interests who are perverting the system with their millions? All we want from you is to tell the truth and keep the voters informed.

—Mrs. Harriet Hess, Alexandria, VA

You rent the public airwaves on the condition that you provide timely and accurate information to citizens. That should include the sources of the flood of political ad revenue you are starting to receive as a result of the Citizens United decision.

—Adam Cornford, Oakland, CA

If corporate owned "media" continues down this path of mcdonald'sization, they will soon become as irrelevant as Fox News and Myspace. Independant media on the internet can replace their "shock and awe" presentation with real news. I rarely watch the big networks now.

—David J Reed, Bath, MI

Love the Huffpo <http://elections.huffingtonpost.com/> MittR's SuperPAC spent 3 x more Against NewtG' than vice versa... Shows Clearly how money instead of people influence elections.

—Bob Oconnor, South China, ME

Although disclosure of the name of the PAC would seem to provide transparency, the names of the largest contributors, and the fact that they endorse the message, should also be required.

—Christopher Hahin, Springfield, IL

Your record collectively has been disgraceful. You're owned by the 1%, which means that there is no fourth estate. You are reporting what money tells you to--that is not responsible journalism, in any form.

—Michael Reed, Plainfield, IL

There used to be a pride, which I shared, in your product; the pride of getting it right, all of it right. You use a public commons - you have the obligation to use it well. In particular, during this important election season, it is your duty to accurately and fairly report the news. So far as i can see, your grubbing for money, your use of the privileged position you have, is limited to your own profit. Shame on you.

—Richard Yarnell, Beavercreek, OR

When will Honesty be a top priority again?

—John F McCarthy, Manhattan Beach, CA

THE UNWISE SUPREME COURT OPINION REGARDING CITIZENS UNITED MUST BE OVERTURNED.

—Robert DeSimone, Newton Centre,, MA

Broadcasters use the airwaves on license from the public. At least, that's how it's supposed to work. Be assured that I will limit my viewing and listening to those stations that go into depth on the election issues.

—Douglas J. Barrett, Carson City, NV

Please give truth equal time.

—Djelloul Marbrook, Germantown, NY

All these things are so incredibly pernicious.

—Mariah Meriam, Quilcene, WA

What a crock. It doesn't matter who gets the most votes we'll get the pre-picked candidate. The banksters run this country

—Robert Vine, Peachtree City, GA

Adele Baker

—Adele Baker, Monroe, GA

What is it about our right to a free press that you don't understand? Big business already controls too much of what we read and hear. We count on you to give us the real picture

—Kathleen S. Anderson, Middleboro, MA

The media are among the few watchdogs we have holding politicians accountable and getting the public out of the dark. Please support these important changes.

—Naila Moreira, Northampton, MA

The media has a special obligation to make sure we remain an informed democracy!

—Grace Sinden, Princeton, NJ

In your heart, you would like to do real journalism. This is your opportunity.

—Elizabeth Robinson, Mountlake Terrace, WA

How about a campaign to vote AGAINST the candidate that has the most TV ads? They will be closest to the 1% right?

—Dave King, Portland, OR

As an alternative, perhaps the FCC should limit political advertising to no more than 1 spot per 30 minute program and require that civic groups and voter education groups receive one 30 sec. spot for each 10 paid political ads.

—Joelle Bonnett, Boulder, CO

The last time I went about my neighborhood and work place.. we ARE STILL A FREE REPUBLIC. We are a Free and Communicative People. We NEED to KNOW who and WHAT are trying to influence us.

—Brad Grady, Waynesville, NC

It is media's obligation to expose the effects of Citizens United on political discourse and influence.

—Richard Johnson, Bellingham, WA

Instead of covering the insults please do a better job on the issues. What will Romney do for someone who loses their job and their health insurance for example?

—Barbara Measelle, San Diego, CA

Because it's the right thing to do.

Corps are not people this super pac crap is just one more thing wrong with Congress You all need to be replaced .

—Robert Sherris, Lebanon, OR

Transparency with respect to this financing of big media by PACs is an absolute must.

—Scott Staton, Brooklyn, NY

Broadcasters, Do your job properly--you are on notice.

—Christine Barton, Cadillac, MI

Years ago we had a fairness policy, where other viewpoints were explored, so the news wouldn't just be one side. Look at what's happened with the Federal & State Governments can't lead because there is no cooperation from across the isle. Bad idea taken to extremes.

—Skip Faulkner, Fairfield, OH

Stop providing cover for PAC funding of political advertising. PAC ads are nothing more than attacks on what remains of American democracy.

—William Shields, Portland, OR

I hear that Jon Tester is submitting a bill to the Senate about this very matter,

—Robin Foster, Saint Regis, MT

Please, don't make me turn you off this election cycle. Almost every election I simply turn off the TV because the ads are nauseating, the coverage pathetic, and the entertainment so brief. It's not worth it. You may make ad money but your regular advertisers pay and I miss my shows and being informed, so I go elsewhere like the web, netflix, Hulu, vudu or my trusty Blu-Ray. This year I may just discontinue my Directv account and call it quits on broadcast television. You don't seem to take your responsibility with OUR airwaves very seriously.

—Craig Watson, Shelton, WA

It is the job of the populace to police its government.

—Josh Maynard, Boulder, CO

Your job is to inform. Please do your job.

—Jacqueline Wilson, Chicago, IL

Surely your viewers deserve to know if someone is trying to buy their way into the most powerful position in the country, rather than being selected to serve because the electorate considers them the best person for the job!

—Richard J Foster, Palmetto, FL

How can an informed decision be made if we don't know who is behind the money? You as broadcasters have a moral and ethical obligation to demand this information and provide it as part of the ad. Without doing so you are in essence endorsing the ad. If you do that, your license should be pulled.

—James McClure, Dunlap, IL

This election process is out of control. Stop the money grab and bring back common sense, and honesty for a change.

—Elizabeth Hartley, Grand Junction, CO

For the people, of the people and by the people, not corporations without a conscience.

—Brian Sharp, Sausalito, CA

People like me don't have to watch people like you. Time to return to real journalism.

—Aggie Lukaszewski, Oakland, CA

When each PAC lists their donors, please let your viewers know who they are. Newscasts need to give us information about the PACs and donors, supporters and which ads come from which groups. That way we can inform ourselves as well.

—Ann Perkins-Parrott, Durango, CO

Your all criminals, Politicians & Media, and will HANG!

—Thomas L Carroll, Irvine, CA

Price gouging during political election seasons should result in prison time for your TOP executives.

—Clair R. Touby, Saranac Lake, NY

Citizens United decision moved our country away from the principle of one person, one vote. Don't exacerbate the problem by not disclosing who is paying for these ads.

—Alpha Stacer, Lilburn, GA

Please put democracy before profit.

—Lanlan Hoo, Wheaton, IL

It is important that the people become privy to real information. We cannot allow politicians to continue to limit the information that the public is provided about their actions. It seriously damages the democratic process and the future stability of this country.

—Kathryn Scott, Brooklyn Heights, NY

What a shame that the greatest democracy the world has ever known might be shot down by our own Supreme Court's decision to give "personhood" to corporations and their deep money pockets. Who gains by this falsehood? The Supreme Court must reverse this decision immediately. Fire the whole bunch and start over!

—Gertrude Coad, Roseville, MN

Democracy depends on an Informed Electorate! Informations is different than intertainment.

—michelle Fletcher, Portland, OR

Please stand up for america, and do the right thing..sincerely Dennis Love

—Dennis Love, pinon hills, CA

I worked in Broadcast sales and know full well the screwing the politicians are taking at the expense of the democratic process. Remember: The American people own the airwaves from which you make your more than adequate living.

—Mr. todd jarrell, Cookeville, TN

The current campaign has shown the effect of the oligarchs. It is time to expose those who want to bring our democracy to fascism.

—James W. Ingemanson, Crystal Lake, IL

If you people don't know how to produce real journalism, watch Democracy Now, or Al Jazeera English sometime: that's how it's done.

—Robert Soper, Portland, OR

Please limit the ads that make people hate election season! We will hold you to account.

—Susan Wallner, Perkasi, PA

Its time to bring back the "Fairness Doctrine" and community standards (you know the responsibility to inform, educate & support the public welfare) for media that uses public communications channels, bandwidths and airwaves.

—Pat Cote, Hampden, MA

Main stream broadcasters. Get the PAC dollar signs out of your eyes and start living up to your societal responsibilities. Do voluntary fairness doctrine and fact checking. You are not immune from occupation, boycott and strike, from We the People taking those dollars out of your hands, one way or another. Get real, get ethical and stop doing anything for a buck. Rebuild your reputations and the bucks will flow to you and not your lying, distorting competitors.

—Ron Shook, Chicago, IL

It's important. Please seriously consider 1.) opportunities for more informative coverage and 2.) the consequences of not providing this coverage.

—David McCabe, Brooklyn, NY

It is obvious that the tremendous amounts of money made available by Citizens United is having an effect on our elections and is undermining the election process. Broadcasters are greatly enriched by the process. Certainly corporate responsibility in revealing the connections between advertisers and those seeking election is a civic and patriotic duty

—Robert C Shaffer, Sheboygan, WI

Where did all the broadcast commentators that used to look out for the real interests of ordinary people disappear to?

—Henry & Linda Friedman, Rosemont, PA

As an American, I am ashamed of you!! I will remember all of you and take action often!!!!

—Carol J Stone, Lake Havasu City, AZ donations to charities would appreciate that much extra money!!

—Bruce McPherson, Centerville, MA

As you broadcast more and more corporate PR and/or drivel disguised as news, your reputation as an valid source of information is diminished. At some point you loose your viewers and the value of your air time plummets. It's your choice: short term profits or a valid long term business plan, not to mention an informed electorate and intelligent political decisions that guide our country and our kid's future.

—Ron Sears, Worthington, OH

The airwaves are OWNED by the citizens. Broadcasters need to do their job and do Real journalism.

—Paul Zink, Montgomery, IL

Don't turn us into the soviet union. Tell the truth about who pays for political ads.

—Kit Jones, Youngsville, NY

Where there is money to be had, the Corporate vultures are there to fill up their greedy pockets. That goes for Broadcasters too. Investing profits into comprehensive election coverage is no incentive for Broadcasters who, like the rest of us, see how SuperPacs are financing the way for political aspirants. Where is really the showdown here?

—A A, Rancho Cordova, CA

Where is Ed Merrow and Walt Kronkite when you need them?

—Harold J. Denenberg, Langhorne, PA

It would be most honest of all major broadcasting companies to tell the truth about all the accomplishments the Democrats and President Obama have made so far. The republicans have been cheating and lying and you don't do anything about it. To think you'd actually relase info and do a story on the other major corporations that pay for advertising on your broadcasting stations. What a joke!

—Barbara Meyer, New York, NY

Keep elections ethical!

—Saureet Hayill, Los Angeles, CA

The local stations here in Wyoming are a joke. Nothing but mouthpieces for the right with "news" that is little more than free ads for the Chamber of Commerce members and welfare ranchers. They are pathetic and unlikely to get any better, training centers for the big time in broadcasting, which is almost as bad. Don't watch or listen. You'll only be brainwashed.

—Harvey Reading, Shoshoni, WY

Secrecy is not Democracy. Do not be part of the effort to keep the public ill-informed.

—James Melloh, Auburn, ME

What happened to the news?

—Donald C Isenman, Napanoch, NY

The media must stop controlling politics. It's not all about money and the sooner you get this the better!!!! Change is NOW. Change is inevitable. Bye-bye- pocket-liners!!

—Anne Ehmann, merrick, NY

Broadcasters have a responsibility to keep their audience informed by reporting their news accurately. If the voters cast votes that do not represent Americans citizens, they bear the same consequences that crooked deceiving politicians will receive once the truth is revealed! Be a responsible broadcaster if you are sincere about getting our nation back on the right track. Thank you.

—Ruth Sandefur, Parkton, NC

I expect that journalism's integrity depends on telling both sides of the story, and informing the public so that people can better participate in this democracy.

—Anne Murphy, Chico, CA

I stand with the vast majority of Americans in demanding that you do the right thing by the voting public and provide real information about the extremely wealthy interests who are putting billions into who they want to be elected.

—Carol Walker, Winthrop, MA

I am the 99%. Support #Occupy Wall Street!

—William Harmon, Greenwood, AR

We realize that democracy in America is a Joke. All I'm asking is that you do a better job with the charade.

—Rodney Dueck, Ivins, UT

And bring back the League of Women's Voters to be in charge of the debates to ask crucial questions for America, not the media.

—Juanita Baker, Sebastian, FL

Don't forget! The people own the airwaves.

—Geri Kenyon, Topanga, CA

The Citizens United decision callously takes advantage of Americans who really have neither the time nor the training to see through some of the ads.

—Elna Otter, Benson, AZ

Get a conscience and cover fairly. Reveal your funding sources and be respected, or don't and lose your audience. Word of mouth and the internet are very powerful, and we will use it against you if need be!

—Elizabeth S. Edwards, Richmond Heights, MO

Thank you.

—Diaa Ahmed, Arlington, VA

Stop being a shill for big business... Report your sources of income, and expenditures for political neutrality.

—Brian Kelly, dickson, TN

Remember that your programs are a public resource for the public good, subsidized by the public. Your responsibility is to serve the public by providing an honest forum for civic engagement. Do not shirk this responsibility.

—Malcolm Sickels, Ann Arbor, MI

This is a very good idea. Are we naive to believe that broadcasters will behave ethically?

—William Josephs, Los Angeles, CA

3 Billion is a Boatload of money --- we need NOT more money in elections, but more money in Green infrastructure and JOBS.

—Bolling P. Lowrey, Greensboro, NC

Gentlemen, I can't fault a broadcaster for making a living. I would like to know where ad funding comes from though. Thank you, Gordon Heavern

—Gordon Heavern, Boulder, CO

I want to see a truth in media law passed this year!

please add Canada to your list of states

—Bill Sample, Vancouver, WA

Grades would be nice: Actually true, white lie, Pinocchio, Pants on Fire.

—Carl Schlaikjer, Middleboro, MA

Please do not dumb down the elections. Do real informative reporting on the issues so that voters will make INFORMED decisions when they go to the polls. Do not be misled by Big Oil or Big Money. Play the essential role of a FREE PRESS IN A DEMOCRACY!

—Betsy Malpass, CHAPEL HILL, NC

Corporations are NOT people. Help us reverse Citizen's United immediately!

—Richard A Jenson, Lexington, MA

Broadcasters have made elections into big business for themselves and hence all the negativity. It is not in the interest of broadcasters to report the facts and not just the emotion because they have realized there is much more money to be made by fomenting distrust and idiocy. Quite frankly public TV and radio should also be called out since they have adopted a lot of the attitudes of their corporate brothers as far as celebrity junk and he she said reporting. The media itself has become full of the one percent with no desire to lose any of its perks and power. Check out NAB- the National Association of Broadcasters and see who runs them and who they connect themselves to, it's a real eye opener when you see "journalists" partying and kowtowing to the very people they are suppose to be reporting on.

—Sheila B. Newtown, DePeyster, NY

It is creepy that we don't know who is financing the candidates who are supposed to be our country's leaders. We deserve to know if it is one rich person or a foreign country or what.

—Linda Cameron, Richland, WA

"speech" purchased with cash should not trump the will of the People who are the real electorate. Tell the truth. Even NASCAR discloses it's corporate sponsors.

—William Petersen, madison, WI

People can (apparently) spend all the money they want. But the American public has the RIGHT to know who is spending that money.

—Michael Luque, San Francisco, CA

America used to be a democracy. Let's not lose sight of this in the world of local T.V. as the election time approaches!

I am in total agreement with the statement and strongly urge that if the broadcasters do not agree and act upon the needed changes, legal actions be brought against them. Sincerely. L. Eudora Pettigrew, Ph. D

—Ph D L. Eudora Pettigrew, Hockessin, DE

NAB and its members have virtually stolen one of this nation's most treasured natural resources; e.g., the airwaves. Beyond demanding full transparency on the funding of political ads, the FCC needs to reassert its control over media ownership and consolidation. Licenses for local stations must be increased and held only by small, local broadcasters, not the big three or four that control literally all content delivered on TV and cable.

—William Killpatrick, Lafayette, NJ

Money can and may destroy our democracy. It may have already happened to a large extent with the banking crisis, where banks lobbied to take down the regulations and then worked around the regulations to garner huge profits and bonuses, leaving tax payers to hold the bag. You as the free press have the responsibility to investigate what happens to taxpayer money in the hands of banks and Federal Reserve. If you are not investigating, you are a very corrupt part of the problem.

—Irene Chang, Bartlesville, OK

Other than Maddow, Ed, Hayes, Perry and a few more on MSNBC, the main stream media has become the right hand of the GOP. It's embarrassing in a country that prides itself on Democracy while the GOP destroys it. The US is not going to be sold to the wealthiest bidder. We must unite and stop Citizens United from selling the US. The GOP is going to flood the airways, internet and mail with lies and propaganda against the President and the rest of us that are not ignorant, racist or bigoted.

—Fran Joy, Evanston, IL

We are tired of incomplete information. Just reporting the short statements. When people were yelling about the immediate need for the keystone XL pipeline, there was little information about the value of the Ogallala Aquifer, what it is like, how the residents of that area are being bullied with eminent domain and by those who are suppose to be representing them. How much clean fresh water is left in this country? Is it a moral position to blindly support only big oil, gas and coal and sacrifice water air, children's health and the public health. Come in, you can do it. The public record is a start! Sincerely Dr.Richard& Wendy Dart BSN
—Wendy Dart, Maiden Rock, WI

The press never follows up with question challenging the lies told by candidates. That needs to stop. Ask the right questions, don't let them off the hook.
—Earl Walker, Scaly Mountain, NC

Television is boring and tedious enough without political ads that are often deceptive and insulting. I expect to obtain information from the media -- NOT propaganda. Do a better job, report genuine facts, and disclose who pays you and why.
—Erica Eversman, Akron, OH

Licenses should be revoked until equal time is freely restored.
—Ginger Wireman, Richland, WA

At least take a middle ground between FOX and MSNBC! Come on! Give us the TRUTH!!!
—Mrs. Arnelle Monson, Duluth, MN

Those airwaves you use belong to the citizens of this country. It is time you provided us with real news and transparency of who is using said airwaves.

—Thirl Wootten, Lexington, MI

It would also be a little more patriotic if you stopped covering elections as horse races. Why don't you invest SOME time in well-researched analysis of the ISSUES. Election coverage shouldn't be about personalities, polling and campaign strategies. This is about the future of the US and the world.

—David Clennon, Santa Monica, CA

Money buys power, which explains a lot about how some of the people in Congress got into positions that are way beyond their abilities.

—C Broderick, Iowa City, IA

I wonder when the Fourth Estate is going to take up the role given it in the Constitution. Oh well, I guess all the other estates have been bought out, so why not you.

—Patrick Smit, Coos Bay, OR

Tell us what the ads cost & who paid for them. news is supposed to cover the news we need to make wise decisions, not just fill our minds with junk and propaganda.

—Karen Giles, Portage, PA

Their actions match those of all those Republicans who say this election is about beating Obama, and not about giving the people what they need. They need to be stopped.

—Robin Resin, DELRAY BEACH, FL

Transparency, transparency, transparency ought to be the rule to follow. Make public the sources of your election campaign monies.

—Oliver Seely, Lakewood, CA

I already have not taken any of the main line news media very seriously in over 20 years. This latest power grab by the far rightwing zealots that are extremely intoxicated with money. And in turn are running amok around this country spending obscene amount of cash. And we can't get our schools properly funded. This is a truly very sad time in our history. Every time we get a broadcaster to speak truthfully, he/she gets fired or boxed in so tight they can't say anything of any meaning. This whole citizens united has really seriously tilted this country into a stupid media frenzy. The USA is the only country that takes more than a year to decide who will be the president. The courts, Congress, the Senate and the president are the best democracy that bankers can buy! We should shorten the primary to 1 week and the final election to 2 weeks. That would cut down the need for the massive amounts of cash.

—Glenn Ross, Eureka, CA

I want to know who is saying what about whom in political ads!!! And, no micro text at the bottom of the screen at the speed of light. I deserve to know.

Money must not be allowed to trump democracy. True democracy demands factual information. You have a moral obligation to sort fact from fiction for your viewers and listeners.

Does the media "SERVE" coporations ????

—Robert Travaline, Bridgeton, NJ

Issues like violations of the US Constitution, rampant corruption, election fraud, loss of national sovereignty, border control, loss of individual rights are all ignored. Ron Paul is almost totally ignored and maligned with obviously biased reporting. The mainstream media insult our intelligence and then you wonder why viewer numbers are falling!.

—David McElroy, Alamogordo, NM

It is time to do fair and honest reporting on politicians and their campaigns, regardless of the amount of money they spend on advertising on your network.

We expect the additional revenues to be used to help inform the public - these are the public airwaves.

—Richard Marsho, Peoria, IL

Get your act together...use some of that income for fact checking. It is a privilege and responsibility to use the public airways

—Alex Wipf, Cutchogue, NY

I expect you will be ignoring this petition and its signers, in light of the massive amounts of money you are expecting to earn from the campaign money piling up to be spent this year. I just hope you and your families can live with the quilt of watching so many people in your communities go down in living standards, and that your gates and fences are strong.

—Karen Holsten-Coleman, Jamesburg, NJ

The overbearing media greed and their right-wing partisan propaganda masquerading as “objective news” are more than criminal. It’s the end of democracy as you so called “objective news media”, actually handmaidens of big money, sell out to corporate America and special interests. What are you going to do for markets when there is no longer a middle class to buy the crap you shill?

—John Dinkmeyer, Grand Lake, CO

Citizens United deprived American citizens with any concept of how much money was being funneled into manipulating their opinion. Media silence on this issue has only exacerbated the situation.

—Laurel Cohen, Maitland, FL

I can remember in the 30's-70's there was some investigative reporting by the 4th estate in matters like this. Today with all the consolidation of ownership they neglect to perform this function vital to our democracy.

—James Roger Mc Shane, Waterville, IA

Remember this? The people own the airwaves!

—William A. Morocco Sr., Farrell, PA

A hand full of billionaires can't buy our elections and you accepting their money and airing these ads without disclosing names of the superpac donors is shameful!

—Joseph Aiello Jr., Yonkers, NY

How about using it to put truth back in advertising, report on lies people and pacs say, DO YOUR JOBS! Report the Truth! And don't put blatant lies on the air. You have a responsibility to your viewers, especially on any program with the word 'NEWS' in it. Talking about who the latest celebrity is doing in not news. But people lying to the public, that is SUPPOSED to be news. Even if it is old news and boring, it is still Important! Yes, we all know politicians lie, but when you do not call them out on it, then everyone who gets their news from you thinks they all do it equally. Some live fact checking during the debates since we have that technology now days, would be a good plan, then you can call them out and make the people debate the facts with facts instead of just making things up. We Demand TRUTH!

Gentlepeople: Will you line your pockets, walk away, and "sell" our republic to the highest bidder, or will you serve the public good by disclosing who buys which ads -- so We, the People, can decide, based on solid information? You have a sacred trust. Do not squander it for your own profit - Or our children will live in political slavery. Thank you, Dan and Joy Meyer

—Dan and Ilse Meyer, San Diego, CA

The press has been running from its core responsibility for years,mistaking coverage for bias. If the election is being bought, that is a news story--who are the large money contributors--what is their political agenda? Who are the Koch brothers and how have they being being the country? These are legitimate news questions. Do your job!

The very thread of our democracy is at stake right now. Are you going to let the rich and powerful drown out the cries and sorrow of the American people? We need the truth in order to make decision that will be best for all of us.... not just the 1%. I do not want to live in that America!

—Kelli Johnson, SEFFNER, FL

Stop the horse-race reporting, and start presenting investigative, fact-based reporting on all candidates' stands on the key issues of the race: job-creation, tax reform, health care, financial regulation, the defense budget, education, foreclosures, Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid. Your job is fair, accurate reporting. DO IT!

The ad should not make the politician, the politician should!
—James Tyler Blankenship, Nashville, TN

You may not profit from our failed democracy (which "You" the media are complicit in destroying) any longer. You've created a climate of fear, turned real People against one another, you don't report Truth and you don't expose Lies. You have no problem reporting Exxon's quarterly profits, I can't wait to see yours!

—Michael Wade Livingston, Midland, TX

There should be a windfall profits tax levied on broadcasters who benefit directly from the pouring of cash into political ads by Super PACs, as a consequence of the Citizens United Supreme Court decision. And when that tax is collected, it should go toward public finance for political campaigns that do NOT benefit from Super PAC money.

Be journalists, not corporate lackeys!

—Dana Briggs, Kirkland, WA

The lack of reporting on this huge and critical issue is crazy. It makes one wonder whose payroll you are on....

—Colette Swiech, Stevens Point, WI

A representative democracy like ours depends upon the voters receiving unbiased information, and that makes news broadcasting important. At the same time, it also depends on the principle of one person, one vote with every vote counting equally. However, the money used in the campaigns suggests that the elected representatives may be representing wealthy financial donors and "super-pacs" more than the voters who elected them. If this is true, our democracy may be in danger. It is up to news services to keep people informed about these developments and their implications. If the news services stop being independent and also fall to the manipulation of financial political interests, then our system may be in trouble.

—Mary Louise Nagata, Florence, SC

Broadcasters should also structure debates to insure discussions about issues of substance. Too many questions are about the campaign, too few about the issues that affect my life.

—Arnold Friedman, Boston, MA

My local talk stations are stacked with a non stop right wing barrage from Rush Limbaugh to Howie Carr. It would be refreshing to hear from the other side once in awhile. I am sick to death of the day long badmouth Obama show.

—Thomas Kelley, Newport, NH

Here's a great idea: how about doing some good old investigative journalism for a change? Tell us who's REALLY funding those campaign ads. Voters have a right to know, don't you think?

—Matthew Thuney, Bellingham, WA

Harold D. Brown, Chair, Wood Co. Democratic Executive Committee ---another signature

Our air waves. And if you don't treat them that way, they will be taken back.

—Jonathan Hall, Tehachapi CA, CA

Everyone has seen beginners Little League baseball, when a ball is hit and the entire team in the field run toward it, ending in one big pileup of little boys, none of which got the ball. With little kids, that is amusing, even adorable. Now, imagine news media -- TV, radio, newspapers -- behaving the same way, tripping over each other to tell the "news" all decide is the story du jour. That is far from adorable, and not even amusing, but it happens every day and every night. Every channel focuses on the same stories, many of which have more of a tabloid feel than affording important news analysis. My suggestion is for the media to follow the money, and make sure the public has the opportunity to know how money governs politics and news. Also, it wouldn't hurt to have an occasional story on the rightward drift in our politics since the fifties, when the John Birch Society was the Tea Party of its day, except that it was not mainstream like the media treats the Tea Party today, and it did not have significant influence over the GOP like the Tea Party does today. The real story is how the GOP has gone from a slightly right of the middle party to one so radical that they don't even feign interest in bipartisan cooperation. The goal they pound home to their party base is not how to fix the economy or address national security, but how to ensure Obama becomes a one-term president. That is really the GOP's "big idea," but to listen to the news, it is just another political season. We need more news that calls out phony political claims, lies and revolting attacks against a sitting president revealing less about him than about the poverty of ideas on the right.

—Gary Gower, Virginia Beach, VA

I want real news, not viondictive ads run by pac $. You, the news media have a responsibility to give us truth- not the lies that are coming over the waves and in the papers of late. Take your responsibility seriously- those of you in the media. Otherwise you aren't worth listening to or reading.

—Nan Corliss, Bloomington, MN

Money in the Political system distorts the accuracy and the focus of the elections, and We the People suffer, as Money buys our Democracy for their benefit, and at the expense of the Majority and our country's best long term interests. The solution is each candidate makes a TV mini documentary that would last near an hour, that has been truthfully vetted for accuracy, by credible independent review of the content from the candidates mini documentary. We would run those as public service for a week, so every one would get a chance to view the candidates positions in greater depth, and in a perspective of the important issues of the day. The elections could be a month later, and we would shorten the election cycle, and the annoying lying political commercials would go away. Everyone wins, even big money gets to keep their money. We the People get a honest and cost effective election process. N. Avery Litin

—Olivia Kaesberg, Wooster, OH

The worst part about this is that the media wants elections to be close so they can rake in even more ad dollars - so they have an incentive to boost underdogs and take down frontrunners - and generally turn it into a popularity contest instead of focusing on real issues - which would allow much more decisive public opinion.

Journalists, please accurately report your observations and findings. We need honest stories and reporting.

—Patricia Pearson, Boulder, CO

End Super PACs now! If a candidate cannot put their name to it, where the money came from, they shouldn't be allowed to run for office.

—Sue Bialk, sheboygan fallls, WI

It is most disturbing and disheartening that broadcasters continue to ignore their duty to inform the public. You are complicit in the death of the democratic republic our Founders envisioned.

—Barbara L. Branham, Portland, OR

Thank you.

—Raymond Merkh, Acton, MA

So clearly destructive to democracy. Shame!

—Matt Miller, Flagstaff, AZ

I am an old-school journalist. It shames me to admit I was a member of this media. Alas, money has destroyed the last bastion of morality and decency, the Fourth Estate's quest to seek the truth.

—EC Goller, St Petersburg, FL

you are using OUR airwaves

—James S Webb, shenandoah junction, WV

Goodbye Democracy, if this keeps up. Disreputable broadcasters.

—William Pogue, La Mesa, CA

Do not foster fascism.

—Steven Johnson, Tacoma, WA

BE a journalist. BE the reporters.

—Shirley Condon, Colleyville, TX

Isn't the whole purpose of media to supply unbiased information. Very, very sadly - the answer is "no." It's not too late for you to prioritize and supply us with honest information.

—Louise Pender, los altos hills, CA

Broadcasters must disclose names and amounts paid for all political ads.

—Lorin Cowell, Brooklyn, NY well really can't DEMAND, BUT if you have any moral compass and concern for true Democracy and honesty in journalism, you'd do it volitionally

—Ruth H Strauss Md, los angeles, CA

Disclose now! We will be sure the NAEB hears about your support of self-disclosure and transparency in political campaigns!

—Elizabeth Leone, Fresno, CA

Corporations are not people, and need more oversight.

—Otto Zequeira, Miami, FL

No wonder people seek alternative media to find real information that affect their life, mainstream media be it local or national have lost their compass. Retrieve what once define journalism, starting with rigor and independence in reporting.

—Diane Cardin, St Petersburg, FL

I would have used a different text for the petition, because the petition itself is guilty of using the same sort of emotional triggers that political ads and news bureaus use. The point is, information about policy is a social contract responsibility. It should never be treated as sport, gossip or entertainment. Its sources and what its media are and intend should always be transparent. If you care about an enlightened society, you'll move to reform journalism.

Thank you.

—Clayton Macdonald, Tallahassee, FL

I understand that in this country money rules. However, this is not the way it is supposed to be. It is supposed to be the majority of the people who are supposed to rule. People in the media know better than most - how easily advertising, and the way something is presented can seriously effect the way the majority votes. This is a sad but true fact. It is how Hitler and many dictators came to power and maintained their power. Don't allow money to destroy the ideals of our forefathers. Go ahead and take the money but disclose where the money came from so that people can make informed choices rather than being led like sheep to the slaughter by propaganda.

—Abigail Newburger, Newburg, PA

Keep anonymous power money out of politics!

—Marc A Bouchie, Battle Creek, MI before accepting money look how truthful the ad is

—James McCarthy, Fort Myers, FL

It is SAD and telling that on more than one day this winter all stations in the Milwaukee, WI area had their "news people" standing outside watching for snow to begin falling - how about you people start covering the important things that are going on, or just change your titles to "fluff propegators".

—Tracy A Kunstmann, Milwaukee, WI

Press must be open to be considered free.

—Patt Reid-Polenz, Andover, NJ

Full disclosure is very important in understanding what potential bias will be at play. What we hear from the news becomes the basis for how we make our decisions, which makes it very important that what we are told is factual and in context. Fear mongering and misinformation are damaging to our democratic process!

—Ryan Henson, Hedgesville, WV

Why aren't broadcasters thinking, "How can we best 'do the next right thing'?" Sure would be good for us, our children, and grandchildren to improve the status quo.

—Ruth Panella, Wilmington, DE

This becomes a moral issue. We are a Nation with integrity. No longer can we keep silent.

—Rev Darlene K. Ryniec, Sarver, PA your lies will not get me to vote for scumbag republican theiving liers;

—Roger Yandell, Shawnee, OK

You have a responsibility to present honest, open, transparent reporting to the American people not only because it is the right thing to do but also because those who oppose this will some day turn on you and your first amendment rights.....

—Craig Schwanke, Herndon, VA

Reform or we will use the public airwaves for free political coverage as in England.

—Daryl McDonald, Ann Arbor, MI

Please respect and support informed democracy

—Gus Preschle, Clemmons, NC

The true measure of a free society is an independent press. We need unbiased, intelligent reporting. It is the job of the press to see through the hysteria. Sadly Fox news is becoming the norm. Could we please have some journalists stand up and do some real reporting rather than pandering. Thank you Ruth Ziel

—Ruth s. Ziel 734 lakewood Lane Marquette, Marquette, MI

I know it is horribly old-fashioned to mention the fact that the airwaves are supposed to belong to the people. You could at least pretend to care about the viewing public by occasionally providing information to help us be more informed.

—Robert Richtfort, Fort Myers, FL

Freedom is not free. You have a responsibility to use your freedom of expression responsibly.

—Walt Birbeck, Mauricetown, NJ

It would be nice to get some real information on the candidates and the issues they support instead of Jersey Shore and the like. Give the public some credit and give them the truth

—Mary Kerasavich, Chadds Ford, PA

You should disclose where you get your money, if you are to be considered honest. Saturnino V. Silva

—Saturnino Silva, Aldan, PA

Plan to cancel cable till mid-November!

—Donna Cushman, KANSAS CITY, MO

I'm signing this mainly to register my disgust with the Citizens United decision and its effects on campaigns, not with any real hope that broadcasters will disclose who's buying the ads or put some of their ad profits towards better reporting. The companies that run the "liberal" media are money-making machines and nothing else, and the "news" exists to sell products.

—Susan DuBois, Albany, NY

ALL monies to/in support of political candidates & officials (judges, etc.) MUST be open public records. Correlations must be made between public officials' monies and their policies. Where there is corruption, it must be punished with the HARSHTEST penalties (ie. 20 yr. minimum prison sentences; appropriation of ALL monies + heavy fines, etc.) ONLY this way will we insure the integrity of OUR GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES AND POLITICAL SYSTEM!

—Mark Stevens, New York, NY

You have an obligation to your viewers to live up to disclosure standards expected of you. Tell us who's paying for these adds!

—Ray Nelson, La Salle, CO

We should be ashamed to use the word democracy when referring to our political system.

—Paul Safr, Renton, WA

Please for the love of all that is good and sacred take steps to end the corruption in politics.

—Tim Bauer, Pacifica, CA

News, not Right Wing sophistry and gossip!

—James D. Deere, Greensboro, NC

Journalism's outposts risk becoming PR agency outposts. All working journalists should be covering this story.

—Gregory Whitmore, New York, NY

this money should be out in the open Joseph Wagner
—Joseph Wagnerr, Sarasota, FL

So, you're on the gravy train. Well, kindly do a little work for our democracy with that money, before you feather your own nests!
—Dr. Lee Jolliffe, Des Moines, IA

It is your job to report where the money comes from and where it goes. Do it.
—Earl Callahan, New Berlin, NY

An informed electorate is vital to the function of a democracy. When we lose, you fail.
—Lucia Campbell, Lansing, MI

I will remember the broadcasters who tell ALL the truth this year about where money comes from and I will make it a practice to ignore those who just focus on the "horse race" or mouth a candidate's talking points. I will also remember who DOESN'T ask the candidates the hard questions. All that is short for "Don't try to out-do Fox. They aren't journalists. They are propagandists. True journalists fight disinformation with facts!!!!"
—Suzanne Shobe, Tulsa, OK

Please remember your license is dependent on your service to the community and that means revealing the truth about the concerns of that community. Democracy can only exest in an educated and knowledgeable society.
—Courtenay Smith, Renton, WA

We think there should be transparncey in this type of marketing. It will be very detrimental to our America, if a handfull of groups can sway the elections without identifying who they are.
—Lynn R. Farrow, Sarasota, FL

We are fighting to save our democracy. Help us in that effort by disclosing special interests behind ads and better reporting on the candidates.
—Dianne Thompson, Beaver Dam, WI

I want facts not manipulating sound bites.
—Bonnie Gatton, Trappe, MD

The above message was written essentially on my behalf. Take assurance however, that I have read it, and agree with it in its entirety. This is myself babbling, feel free to opt out. Honestly, I had no clue what Stephen Colbert's Super PAC was when I saw his goofy episode about it. But I can not say I agree with pouring a projected 3 billion dollars alone in just the communications of who should be doing what. If that money were "better invested" maybe towards a graspable concept or innovative idea rather than spending all of it in less than a year, I think this is the prime place to say "Don't spend all your money in one place", and I think its time they listened. The average american may watch tv, but the percentile of americans that actually care about their vote will research the candidates, and if necessary, not vote at all. I mean, which should a candidate get a vote from a person who doesn't think any candidate would be worthy for the position they run? Thank you for your time and for humoring my rant.
—Eric Harrel, jefferson city, MO

voting now by not watching the mainstream media news...watching instead the people who have earned my trust with the honest and forthright journalism that i grew up with. People like Bill Moyers for instance I will support his program and I will support those individuals I read like Gretchen Morgenson and David Stockman and Ralph Nader. Reform our political system to reform media and to reform the financial institutions that run everything at the moment.
—Claire Hutchinson, Leesburg, VA

You are ruining our political system.

—Thomas Blakeslee, Westlake Village, CA

I'm fed-up with TV News backgrounds showing the current visual propaganda of the "Chemtrails on Blue Sky". Weather Modification planes are ruining our Earth's atmosphere... the "Gorilla" in the sky. Black Carbon Aerosol isn't working. It's not producing evaporated water, rain filled, clouds like Nature does....

—Ellen Bryant, Eureka, CA

It is time that we limit the dollars that are spent on any political campaign. Money does not mean speech, but the pac's are making money speak. Does the rich 1% have extra dollars ????? Yes Yes Yes Time to tax them out of our political system.

When the whole world and so many Americans in the US are struggling to keep our heads above water, all this huge amount of $$$$$$ is going to convince the USA that this side or that has the best solutions.

—Judith Emerson, Houston, TX

Rational decisions about voting for candidates who will initiate and implement policies that best support citizens' needs is essential. Party philosophy about the choices may differ substantially, but compromise is essential. How can citizens make good choices without objective, factual press coverage? Super PACs have created such distortion with advertising little truth exists. The news media needs to borrow tips from old-time investigative, objective reporters and return to honoring integrity and honesty in news coverage.

—Carole DuPre, Chapel Hill, NC

It is important to see who backs the ads since they are often spun in a way that is misleading. I would like to see laws like Oregon has in place for truth in advertising.

—Lily Haggerty, Captain Cook, HI

Please stop the "horse-race" coverage and deal with the issues

—Richard Mcilnay, Marietta, PA

Broadcast money put in produces garbage out.

—Stefan S. Neustadter, Hackensack, NJ

Do the right thing!

—Kelly Miles, Myrtle Point, OR

Better job?! You are not doing your job! It is all a show about wise-cracks and who is winning and losing. Investigative journalism - is not even in the picture! Shame on all of you!

—Marie de Jong, Chapel Hill, NC

A CLEAN BROADCASTING KEEPS A CLEAN IMAGE OF THE PUBLIC MEDIA.

—William G. Gonzalez, Suffern, NY

Use the same criteria for polititions that the FCC demands for PSA's....

—Judi Williams, Chatsworth, CA

If you are not part of the solution...you're part of the problem. We'll ALL lose in the end!

—Stephen Sleeper, Bonita Springs, FL

With all the money you are and will be obtaining from the candidates you surely must be able to inform the public about what is really happening now and will happen later.

—Mary J Cox, Shelby Twp, MI

THIS MUST END NOW! The DUMMY here is you!

—Patrick Odell, Santa Fe, NM

Broadcasters, not just corporations, must be reigned in! They're all lining their pockets at the expense of our democracy!

Sincerely Judy Boutwell

—Judy Boutwell, Greenwood Lake, NY

I have pulled the plug on my TV until we have real journalism again that's independent. And most important in this democracy of ours, is a free press. Now bought and paid for, we get the corporate message, polished up and handed, word for word, to our "representatives". Government by the people, of the people and for the people. Remember?

—Kimberly Crail, Floral Park, NY

I'm wondering to what degree the Media owned by huge corporations influenced the right wing members of the Supreme Court to see "freedom of speech" their way in order to reap the benefits with increasingly expensive advertising.

—Elizabeth C Holtzclaw, Arlington, VA

If you do not get this right, then you are part of the problem. Please be a part of the solution to help us out of the mess we are in these days.

—Floyd Mitchell, Anchorage, AK

As stewards of the Fourth Estate, our media need to get back to their roots and get back to doing in-depth, investigative journalism. Stop letting the money -- and the Superpacs' oppositional research -- set your agenda!

—Doug Bradley, Madison, WI

The need for objective, honest reporting could not be greater than it is at this moment in our history...the whole world is watching this process unfold and it will not be helpful to our country's interests to continue the lies, fabrications and ridiculous hyperbole that has marred the campaign. The republican candidates fling out nonsense that seems plausible to the general public, which in turn eats it up with relish. A meaningful dialogue has been absent from the opening day of the campaign. It's time to turn this around and to set forth the real issues and force the remaining candidates to state their positions on vital issues without further equivocation. It is both an outrage and a disrespect to the American people to populate the news with a constant river of lies.

—Diane Moss, Woodside, NY

We deserve the right to know the source of all information, especially in an election year. Take unaccountable funds and spinsters out of the election cycle. Some things are more important than fast and easy money.

—Kelly Zatkowski, WOODSTOCK, GA

I want to know the names of those funding the media.

Dear Broadcasters: Help keep our democracy safe by reporting real information on the money trail of these big investors. Sincerely, THERESA CIARMATORI 14 Wright Street Agawam, MA 01001-3130

—Theresa Ciarmatori, Agawam, MA

Why don't you do what media reports are supposed to do? Provide information about the source of all the money going into campaigns, not just the name of the organization.

—George Psathas, Newton, MA

Information is being co-opted by big money--By doing your job and informing the public of who supplies the ad money, you can help protect our democracy.

—Sherry Lewis, Albuquerque, NM

If American citizens OWN the airwaves which are licensed by FCC to broadcasters then content/sponsors must be visible!

—Kaila nelson, Kihei, HI

The voters rely on the media to inform them. Please don't be bought out. Media persons have a responsibility.

Thank you for listening.

—Ms. Juliana Spence, Jaffrey, NH

We've been down this road before. Corporate Broadcasters are not serving the public in ANY way.

—Frederick Walker, El Centro, CA

Your profits are made through use of public airwaves; you owe the public full information concerning the sources of the monies that are paying for the political ads. Full disclosure is owed to voters to ensure they make informed decisions.

—Natalie Fine, Monroe Township, NJ

THIS IS SOMETHING THAT MUST CHANGE. Our saying that the USA is a real democracy is a very obvious lie. It is time to actually make it one.

—Catharine Lund, Falmouth, ME

"I'm candidate XY&Z and I approve this message" (We once deplored anonymous political pitches.)

—Mr. Bernard Couming, Canton, MA

Come on, members of the media. You have completely lost sight of what you were supposed to do, and your credibility. These things NEED to be covered!!!

We need to know the individuals trying to buy our elections.

—Mike Betz, Bellingham, WA

Even if you run lucrative ads paid for by the gush of SuperPAC money, you owe it to the voting public to follow the money trail behind those ads. Otherwise you are simply turning into paid mouthpieces for political campaigns. Spend your profits on your public interest obligations.

—Craig Dunning, Berthoud, CO

Is the election being bought or are we voting for the right person?? I hope the answer is VOTING for the right person who will really work hard for all of the American people and not just a lucky few who are rich. Keep them honest as to who is contributing and what those people/corporations have to gain. Our true democracy is being stolen from us!!!!

—Susan Weishaar, Big Bend, WI

All we are asking is the most basic of responsible investigative journalism regarding the most basic function of our representative democracy. To do less is to violate the mandate of your broadcasting license.

—James Bergstrom, Alameda, CA

We need to reverse the Citizens United decision!!!!!! It is absolutely ridiculous that this passed in the first place. The Supreme Court needs to look beyond free speech on this one and realize what they have done to this country.

There comes a time when you have to stop just doing the profitable thing, and do the right thing. Whatever channel takes the lead on integrity in broadcasting will reap unimaginable rewards. Please give it your consideration.
—Jeannine Seymour, Santa Fe, NM

Although I am informed about how most of these politicians are owned by moneyed interests, aka, the 1%, many people are not. For instance, if you explained that Scott Walker spends most of his time out of state raising money from hard-right millionaires, more people would be skeptical of the nonsense he spews on a daily basis.
—Tim Wong, Madison, WI

—Jack C Farmer, King City, OR

One way to stop the robbery is to take back our air-waves and start from scratch. The people own the airwaves so let's demand 1/3 or 1/2 of the net profits from broadcasters who are brazenly shoveling all the money up for themselves.
—Frances Wilgren, Waltham, MA

Statistics can be bent to agree with any point of view. Political ads seldom contain truth, so we viewers MUST know who is funding the ads to judge how much credence to give them.
—Sandra J. Carrubba, Buffalo, NY

Please, keep our citizens fully informed and educated.
—Gale Nichols, Raleigh, NC

Honest commentators should not be present only in the past. We need them now!
—Pauline Wittry, Manitowish Waters, WI

Again make it possible for anyone in the US to be president.
—Joy Smith, asheville, NC

This coountry needs truth in the media. These ads are misleading and frequently outright lies. The citizens need factual information before they choose their leaders.
—Eileen Waterman, Albuquerque, NM

Broadcasters... why you no save democracy??
—Ceilidh Madigan, Trenton, NJ

Transparency is needed in funding campaigns now more than ever. People have a right to know when their vote is being bought.

—Maureen Schleisner Motschman, APPLETON, WI

How can we have a free Press if they like the politician, are paid for. When money rules the conscious fails. Are we the people so fear filled, that we are missing the silent coup taking place in our country. Let's stop the media from being a conduit for the rich and powerful to control how we think and behave. What is American exceptionalism if we have lost our soul to money and greed.

—Don Khan, San Antonio, TX

When people become spiritually bankrupt, society turns into a kind of hell where there is no freedom and where people can no longer live as human beings. For precisely this reason, it is imperative that the inner prison in people's lives be destroyed. The course of our lives is determined by how we react - - what we decide and what we do - - at the darkest of times. The nature of that response determines a person's true worth and greatness. The law of cause and effect functioning in the depths of life is strict and impartial. - D.I.

—Deborah Favorite, Los Angeles, CA

The public airwaves are just that: public. They are not the sole property of any corporate or political organization. As such, they should carry unbiased information as part of newscasts. Unfortunately, those who were behind the "Citizens United" atrocity think that they can buy the full support of TV and radio stations when they buy advertisements. The current situation is not what Ben Franklin and Thomas Jefferson had in mind when they trumpeted the importance of a free press.

—George G. Stradtman Jr., Elkins Park, PA

Our elections should not hinge on the skewed information given by special interest PACs that have the money of a few behind them!

—Cynthia Honeycutt, Salem, VA

—John Walling, Seattle, WA

Really you guys use the public air waves and are supposed to provide a public service. I urge you to present in depth truthful coverage of the 2012 campaigns.

—Nike Stevens, Bozeman, MT

It's unfair and completely irresponsible to maintain a system which permits the media outlets to accept undisclosed sums of money. The potential for candidates and/or political parties to have even a remote opportunity to sway the output of news to a greater degree than they currently have is dangerous and it takes us closer to the observation either Abraham Lincoln or Thomas Jefferson (I forget which one exactly, but it was absolutely one of these two great leaders) made in regards to our democracy being destroyed when corporations have the kind of power that is greatly more significant than that of an ordinary citizen. We need you to fight for the kind of America that our forefathers both envisioned and fought for. Sincerely, Brett Harkey

You keep right on running stupid advertisements. It give me a chance to go to the toilet.

—D K. Harris, Cocoa, FL

With all the money media are hauling in from campaign, PAC and Super PAC ads, don't you feel obligated to cover more than the GOP horse race? How about letting voters know about the huge tax increases planned before 2020? Or inviting David M. Walker to discuss his nonpartisan effort to alert Americans to the financial cliff we're about to fall off of? What's that -- you don't know who David M. Walker is? Shame on you for just proving my point! I'm a retired broadcaster and conservative who usually favors a hands-off policy when it comes to the FCC, but persistently shallow media coverage of politics is changing my view. Keep it up and I'll petition the FCC myself!

—Mr. John A ("Jack") Thomas, Harrison Township, MI

Newscasters interviewing politicians need to start calling out the things they say that have been proven to be untrue. Otherwise they are simply not doing their job and don't deserve to call themselves journalists.

The press' lack of challenge pre-Afghanistan and pre-Iraq contributed to two disastrous, probably illegal wars. Please, don't be lulled or coerced into complacency or acquiescence again. We are counting on a free, professional press to challenge anything and everything candidates or their surrogates propose to us voters. Thank you.

—Mary Nigro, Columbus, NJ

I will be voting on my candidate of choice based on real information, not what some ugly ad puts forward. But I resent how much money exchanges hands amongst the "money changers". Don't underestimate the intelligence of many of the voters. We know what we are viewing, and we know when it is not the truth! But what you are doing is WRONG! And there will be some uninformed folks who will be swayed by your lies. My vote will go to a man of integrity who has shown this to us over the past four years!

—Susan Hargreaves, Marquette, MI

You call it political money from the 1 percent, I call it christian fundamentalist money from those who will stop at nothing to take over the world. Our government is already under their control. They care about nothing but ousting Obama. They really believe they're the chosen ones and the rest of us can just go die! Very sad state of affairs.

—Bobbie Cunha, haiely, ID

Transparency in political spending will help the citizens of this country make the best decision in deciding who helps to lead us.

—Cheryl Bechtle, Tucson, AZ

Objectivity in broadcasting is negatively affected by massive political advertising.

—Eugene Heise, Winston-Salem, NC

The broadcasters must be responsible to the public interest ahead of their own and the FCC must mandate that they behave in such a manner. They will still make money but they will have served "We the People" as well.

—Marilyn Brown, Matthews, NC

Democracy, as envisioned by our forefathers, was not a system controlled by the rich for the benefit of the rich. It was conceived of a government for the people and by the people. Super PACs ignore that intention

Knowing who is responsible for these (often deceptive) advertisements is important so that voters can make an informed decision on election day. Please don't let wealthy corporations and special interests further damage our democratic process.

—James Carnley, Colorado Springs, CO

Investigative reporting is expensive and political news is by nature spun with half-truths. Reporting on politics requires more than looking at a radar (for weather) or the internet for sports...(it is hard to spin a games score).

—Howard Czoschke, Madison, WI

This disclosure is of monumental importance.

—Kathleen Thomson, Royal Oak, MI

Broadcasters must stop putting profits over the future of American democracy.

—Renny Reep, Seattle, WA

Please consider the long-term health of our democratic system; please make sure the voters understand who is financing the political ads. Thank you.

—Stephanie Koenig, Silver Spring, MD

Where are your values? Do you have any consciences? Act on them, do the right thing for We the People. Truth, Please.

—Julia McDaniel, BayVillage, OH

It is too bad that so much money is being spent in this manner, rather into infrastructure or education that could make our country stronger!

—Joanne Kundra, Philadelphia, PA

Please do your part to uphold the legitimacy of out democracy. Thank you for your time.

—Katherine Pflaumer, Philadelphia, PA

I feel strongly about this.

—Jane T. Goebel, Melville, NY

A free press is at the foundation of a true democracy. Start doing the right thing and report on what's really going on.

Let the people hear the truth not just the corporatoscracy's side!

—Dr. Simon Bernstein, Galena, IL

AMEN!!!!!!

—Sally Pierone, SPOKANE, WA

The runaway spending we are now seeing will ruin our system of government and not do the good that it could do to improve things in America. Each election cycle pushes up the ante for the next one and it has become disgusting to watch!

—Marguerite Polidori, Bingham Farms, MI

The notion that dollars can be votes is simply a denial of democracy. It is leading this country into failure.

—Paul Cohen, Sidney, ME

The public has a right to know under these circumstances.

—Mavis B. Knight, Dallas, TX

Do what's right and correct, not what's selfish. You'll do better in the long run and the short run.

James Tyler

—James Tyler, NEW MILFORD, NJ

This is a classic conflict-of-interest corporate broadcasters have with Super PACs. They should also be forced to act in the Public Interest since that is part of their licensing agreement to use public airwaves. Having political advertisement revenue influencing news broadcasts is NOT in the Public Interest.

—John Deal, Accomac, VA

While you are at it, spend some time balancing the political ads (left / right, specific issues) Want to get more people listening? have a daily hour and a half for this, and advertize it during the rest of the day. Don't let money sway content; balance it. "We the people" aren't getting what we need from you -- just awful music.

—Rosine V. Turner, Madison, WI

Broadcasters' objectivity is being co-opted by PAC money, turning them into shills for the highest bidder.

—Gregory Cahill, Culver City, CA

The number one concern our nation faces right now is its dependence on foreign oil. We must work to change our energy infrastructure now, for national defense and to improve our economy. Put our country to work by providing incentives for businesses to implement known, provable renewable energy solutions, such as geothermal heating/cooling, wind power, and solar power. And provide incentives to companies to work on making ethanol from switchgrass and corn a viable energy source for vehicles. This way we can use our own valuable resources to become energy exporters instead of becoming bogged down in foreign wars over fast-dwindling fossil-fuel resources. Pulling out of costly foreign wars will also improve the economy and the national debt. We have to ask ourselves why we're still fighting in the Middle East. What are our goals? Is a military approach really the most effective way to achieve those goals? In order for our country to move forward, on these and other issues, we need to overturn Citizens United, with a Constitutional Amendment, if necessary, because money does not equal free speech, and those with more money should not have such a tremendous advantage when it comes to influencing, or even buying, representatives in Congress. Our government will no longer represent the people at large when it is owned by the top handful of corporate executives, and this is particularly dangerous because the short-term interests of corporate executives who outsource their companies and jobs and have the ability to relocate at will are not the best interests of our nation. Last, but certainly not least, we must defend our Constitutional rights and liberties from attacks from both sides of the aisle. Without the basic and fundamental rights to free speech and due process, no democracy can survive. We need courageous representatives who will not sacrifice our fundamental liberties out of fear. It's depressing to me that not only do we not seem to be exporting freedom to the Middle East, we appear to be importing oppression and tyranny to the United States. Sacrificing our liberties will not make us safer, and it opens the door to the potential for horrendous abuses of power. Please do everything in your power to reverse the provisions of NDAA that allow the military to capture and indefinitely detain American citizens. A free and just democracy guarantees its citizens the right to a fair trial, and a democracy cannot survive without it.

Quit trying to play us!

—John Herron, CHARLOTTE, NC

With all of the money that will be made this election season by all of the news outlets it's imperative that fair and balanced reporting backed up by credible sources be used to back up every report aired. Please be advised that the truth behind your reports will be monitored and inaccurate reports called out and exposed. So please insure your stories are fair, balanced and supported by creditable sources because we will be watching.

—Eldon Frazer, Alamo, TX

We need REAL news. Please don't forsake the people you got into the business to aid.

—Jeremy Bray, Salem, OR

724 DeLaura Lane Virginia Beach, VA 23455 At the very least you can inform the public as to where the money is coming from. We need money out of politics, but we don't need it in broadcaster's pockets, slipped under the door IN CASH, with no accountability! You are as much a part of the "the best government money can buy" as the people who give the money. In fact, I'm not sure you are more, because the buck stops with you. YOU wind up with the billions! For shame, for shame, for shame! For sure, the network corporations DO talk....every day... letting whatever wants to be said IF the money is enough. When will people realize that this scramble for money is getting them nothing more than a piece of paper with numbers on it? Is it going to make you happy? healthy? If so, for how long? When you get down to the last breath, are all those pieces of paper you worshipped, craved, lied for, cheated for, or whatever you did to get them.....are they going to make you happy as you die? God in heaven, greed is SOOOOOO ugly!

—Phyllis Dailey, Norfolk, VA

Things have reached the point, wherein I no longer trust anything that is reported by large media in the United States. I have to go to sources like ProPublica to find out the truth!

—Mr. Mike Rose, Clovis, CA

I'd like to see some real news, environmental, social and political on television but mostly we get silly pap. BBC and NPR seem to be the only news people who care about the news.

—John Mac Carpenter, Ft Stockton, TX

—Eugene Blank, Portland, OR

This is a serious matter! Please take note and work quickly toward changing.

—Bradley Highberger, Stowe, VT

We all know the spectrum was GIVEN to broadcasters for a serious obligation - break your entertainment from real news, and expect full transparency from local affiliates. Or, suffer the consequences.

—David C, Brooklyn, NY

The "on-air" broadcasters (ABC, CBS, NBC, etc.) have long been given broadcasting rights for FREE by the federal government. In return, the networks promised to provide good, consistent news broadcasts to the American people. Unfortunately, the purpose of the news is no longer to provide information to the public, but rather to make more money for the network. As a result, networks work harder to make their news broadcasts "entertaining," rather than being informative. Local networks do a bit better job of providing news to their viewers. However, they are also first in-line to take the hoards of cash that the Super-PACs are spending on political ads, and do little in the way of making any effort to ensure that the ads are, in any way, factual, or even relevant. It is time that the network and local broadcasters take responsibility for the content that they produce. And stop turning a blind eye to the content of political ads. And while the "Fairness Doctrine" is no longer enforced broadcasting policy in the United States, broadcasters should strive to be fair in the content that they broadcast, whether it is produced by the local/national broadcasters, or whether it is produced by private entities. Broadcasters should remember that the attack on citizen's right to free speech that ensued following the Citizens United court decision, while largely affecting the citizens most directly, could well open the door to co-opting broadcasters ability to be solely responsible for the content that they air. I can envision a time in the not-so-distant future when Super-PACs purchase the vast majority of local network's "air time," and use the purchased air time to broadcast nearly-continuous political ads supporting specific candidates. Broadcasters must also disclose who is purchasing their air time. If the federal government is unable or unwilling to enforce disclosure requirements on Super PACs, the local networks should be willing and able to step-up and provide that disclosure.

—John Rouze, Garden Grove, IA

Whatever happened to the Fourth Estate? "Entertainment" has no place on a news program; it only adds to the dumbing down of Americans. The very future of our country is at stake in this election. Give us hard-hitting news - from both sides of the political spectrum - not pabulum for the masses. People must be informed, or our democracy perishes.

—Judith Sartor, Redondo Beach, CA

I'm sick of the media only reporting their version of the news instead of the real news...

—Nancy Meehan, Santa Rosa Beach, FL

WHAT THE HELL! WHY IS OUR MAINSTREAM TV & RADIO IN USA SOOO IRRELEVANT AND LACKING IN REAL IN- DEPTH OBJECTIVE INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING? OUR USA MAINSTREAM NEWS IS THE WORST OF THE WORST!!! TRUTH IS JUST NOT IN THE MIX. THE NEWS IS DEVOID OF CONTINUITY AND BRAIN DEAD ILLOGICAL GARBAGE THAT IS BEYOND UNCONSCIONABLE. THEN YOU HAVE POLITICAL PAC ADS RUBBISH OF SMALL AND UNHEALTHY MINDS SCAMMING FOR HIGH PROFITS WHILE COMMITTING CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY AND ALL LIVING THINGS!! MONOPOLY MONSTER MADNESS MULTI-NATIONAL CORRUPT CORPORATIONS CRAMMING AND ABUSING OUR AIRWAVES WITH THEIR ENVIRONMENTAL AND ECONOMIC WARS AGAINST HUMANITY AND ALL LIVING THINGS! BIG MONEY! BIG LIARS, ROBBERS AND MOTHER RAPERS TERRORIZING INNOCENT CIVILIAN CITIZENS. MANY SPONSORS ARE IN FACT GUILTY OF TREASONS AGAINST THEIR OWN FELLOW CITIZENS. SURELY IT IS TIME FOR THE 99% TO ASSEMBLE TO TAKE BACK THE AIRWAVES THAT BELONG TO US AND FOR UNTIL WE THE PEOPLE COMMUNICATE CLEARLY OUR RESPONSIBILITY TO TAKE CARE OF THE AIRWAVES, NOTHING IS GOING TO GET BETTER. IT'S NOT!!! THE SICK CONTENT YOU ARE WILLING TO PUT ON THE AIRWAVES BECAUSE YOU ARE EAGER FOR THE FILTHY DIRTY MONEY IS TO SAY THE LEAST BEYOND UNCONSCIONABLE! WE NEVER LET OUR CHILDREN WATCH SUCH EXHIBITIONS OF MENTAL ILLNESS DEVOID OF TRUTH. POLITICAL ADS ARE ALOT LIKE BIG PHARMA ADS, A LEADING CAUSE OF SICKNESS AND DEATH.

Broadcasters: Let the American people at least KNOW who is buying our country from us at silent auction!

—Mark Willis, Kensington, MD

Let's as a society decide to stop the decay of the press by big money interests who have not one interest in common with my own. Let's get to reporting the facts as they are, not as the moneyed interests what to portray (or for us to see) them.

—Graham Hollister Jr., Genoa, NV

Every American, separately and collectively has got to learn to refuse money that will not fit with this country's longstanding commitment to fairness and equality. Times may be bad, but they're not so bad you can justify taking money for unethical practices. What's happening to journalistic integrity?

—Selina Pierce, WILLITS, CA

Please take a stand - responsible reporting is essential to a free society!

—Kevin A Ryan, Chicago, IL

Democracy only works with a well-informed electorate. Broadcasters - who use the public airwaves - have a responsibility to provide real news, not just ads and pap. Campaign coverage should be about candidate's positions, views, proposals and actions - not about whether they are in first place, or where the polls place them. In other words, you should be helping us make informed decisions, not to know who is the front runner.

—Sheila Wofsy, Suches, GA

A truly Fair and Balanced approach to news reporting is slowly dying, and that is a blow against all America stands. As the saying goes "You are entitled to your opinion, BUT NOT your own facts". TRUTH is the best weapon against all opponents.
